OUTLAWING SUBMARINE AS A WAR WEAPON

LADY ASTOR STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR ABOLITION

BELIEVES AMERICA WILL BACK ENGLAND IN BANNING SUB

ADVOCATES CONFERENCE OF POWERS TO ACT IN THE MATTER

(Copyright, 1925, by United Press)

London, Nov. 17.—Lady Astor, Virginia beauty, member of the British parliament and originator of the latest British movement for banning the submarine, advocated today in an exclusive United Press interview an agreement among nations to "halt this horrid thing."

France, she held, ought to take the initiative, yet there was a great deal to be said for those "who think that England should take the lead" in outlawing the undersea boat as a war weapon. She foresaw that America would back England in such a cause.

Only last Saturday Lady Astor at Plymouth declared she was ready to go among the women of the entire world to rouse them against the undersea weapon. This word from her has started statesmen of England and America thinking and talking of submarine scrapping which failed at the Washington arms conference on objections from France.

Asked today to give her views in greater detail the charming southerner, the first woman to have a seat in the British imperial parliament, said:

"I feel very strongly that we should do something to halt this horrible thing."

"My own experience among the wives of officers and men in the submarine service is that the submarine should be abolished by agreement. How this is to be done, I do not know. I think Great Britain did all it could at the Washington conference but was stopped by France."

"It is now for France to make the trial."

France, Lady Astor suggested, has become calmer since the days of the Washington conference, for in the meantime the Locarno pact has given her an air of security.

"On the other hand," continued Lady Astor, "there is a good deal to be said for those who think that England should take the lead and call a fresh conference, whether it be held or not. Even if refusals come we should at least know where we stand."

"I feel sure that the United States will back us up."

Such a conference, she said, ought to include Russia, for without that nation any agreement reached would not be complete.

"I believe," she said, "that if the conference is actually called, Russia would join us."

FRANCE DOES NOT FAVOR THE PROJECT

By A. L. BRADFORD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Nov. 17.—France looks with little favor on the British campaign to abolish submarines.

While a marine ministry official indicated today France would be ready to participate in a conference to discuss limitation of the weapon he made it clear that France regarded the submarine as the "soul" of the French naval system, a weapon effective but cheap "for a poor nation."

"The French government," said the marine spokesman, "holds that the question of abolition of the submarine has not yet been brought up between the governments. If there is a desire to restrict submarines, there should be convoked a conference, similar to the Washington disarmament conference, to discuss the problem."

"The submarine is certainly the soul of a poor nation. France is limited in surface craft by the Washington conference and is further limited by her financial situation. France must consider the necessity of protecting her coasts."

"And the submarine is a weapon of war. Before abolishing weapons, one must first definitely abolish war."

As for the practicability of the undersea craft, the spokesman declared that there were not as many submarine accidents as airplane and automobile accidents.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States government is ready to consider with open minds any suggestion from Great Britain or other nations for the abolition of submarines, it was said officially at the White House today.

President Coolidge explained to callers, however, that the present policy of this government favors limitation of submarines on a ratio basis as supported by the United States delegation at the Washington arms conference.

Most Turbulent Hearing Ever Seen in Washington

HOME BREW CASE RULING IN WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Possession of wine and beer in one's home and even possession of contrivances for the manufacture of wine and beer is not an offense under the Severson law, the Wisconsin state prohibition act, the Wisconsin supreme court ruled today in dealing with a home brew case originating in Iowa county.

LAD OF 12 WITH EYE FOR BUSINESS

SAID TO HAVE VICTIMIZED VARIOUS PEOPLE WITH SOLICITATION SCHEME

St. Cloud, Minn., Nov. 17.—St. Cloud officials are searching today for a 12-year-old boy with a gift for business.

The lad has victimized numerous persons with an ingenious solicitation scheme. Representing himself as an inmate of the St. Cloud orphanage, he has collected money "for the orphanage fund" at the rate of about three calls a month.

His credentials are a letter signed by the head of the institution. No one has thought to read the letter. The head of the orphanage says it is probably some correspondence he picked up by chance and denies giving anyone authority to collect money.

The personable lad won the sympathy and money of three more persons last night after reports of his operations had been printed in newspapers.

SEARCH FOR THE BANDITS CENTERING IN ROCHESTER, WIS.

Rochester, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Search for the bandits who have been raiding banks, post offices, railroad stations and business places throughout the state was centered here today.

Racine county authorities began a systematic search here for the possible hiding place of the bandits, when they obtained positive information that at least two of the bandit gang had been making their rendezvous here.

These two, it is said, are wanted for murder and looting of a bank at Port Pierre. Intercepted letters to a girl at Port Pierre, mailed from this city, indicated that the gang was making this village its rendezvous.

Sheriff Lambert and Racine county authorities came here and conducted an investigation and learned that two men, answering the description of the men, who held up a Port Pierre bank, shot an automobilist and fled in his car, had posted letters here and then left.

According to Sheriff Lambert, the bandits, who operated in South Dakota used practically the same tactics as were employed in the recent Wisconsin raids.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER BRIDGE; I KILLED, I HURT

Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—W. I. Knapp, 23, Oshkosh, is dead and William Kavanaugh, also of Oshkosh, is near death with a fractured skull as the result of the automobile in which they were riding plunging over the brink of a bascule bridge here early today.

LOGGING WORK IN WOODS LAGS

GROVER M. CONZET, STATE FORESTER, REPORTS AFTER EXAMINATION

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Although conditions are favorable, logging activities lag in Minnesota's north woods this fall, according to Grover M. Conzet, state forester, recently returned from an inspection trip to Duluth and vicinity.

One of the largest logging seasons in recent years, is anticipated. "Woods operators are not closing contracts for pulpwood, ties and other small timber and there are few big projects in sight," Conzet said. The market, rather than the scarcity of woods products is blamed for apathy in the industry. Early rains and solid frozen surfaces made conditions excellent for sledges and early cutting.

Forestry forces are taking advantage of the inactivity to burn the old crop of slashings and diminish fire hazards next spring.

GANGLAND OUT TO PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD LEADER

"SAMOOTS" AMATUNA FUNERAL IN CHICAGO TODAY

LATEST OF CHICAGO BEER BARONS TO DIE DEATH OF VIOLENCE

Chicago, Nov. 17.—With more display than is usually accorded a great national figure, gangland today turned out to pay tribute to Sammy "Samoots" Amatuna, latest of Chicago's beer barons to die a death of violence.

The body, richly garbed, lay in a silvered bronze casket, costing $10,000. More than $30,000 worth of flowers were piled in the room where the body lay in state and overflowed into all the other rooms of the Amatuna home and even into the homes of neighbors.

All last night and early today thousands of men and women from all walks of life filed past the casket for a last look at the man who aspired to leadership of the Italian community and who was shot to death by rival gangsters because he had encroached on their beer preserves.

In the crowd were his own followers, rival gangsters, who called a temporary truce, politicians, who respected his power as a vote getter, lawyers, business men and miserably poor men and women, who lived off the bounty of "Samoots, the benevolent despot."

Vast floral pieces stood out in the veritable wilderness of flowers. One piece was in the form of a pedestal a foot square and eight feet high. There were anchors, flags, eagles, harps and wheels, all done in the most expensive flowers. One huge piece called "Gates Ajar" because of its shape, bore the simple card "from the boys at Taylor and Halstead Streets."

CHARGED WITH FRAUD SELLING LAND TO VETERANS

Minneapolis, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Floyd Olson, Hennepin county attorney, is preparing briefs to support the indictment of R. H. Benham, for fraud in connection with the sale of land to war veterans.

Briefs filed with Judge Thomas H. Salmon, Hennepin county court, yesterday by Frank W. Murphy, attorney for Benham, questioned the validity of the indictment.

Murphy declared if the attack on the indictment is not sustained he will demur.

INCREASED GRAIN RATES CONSIDERED

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Minnesota state officials were to leave here late today for Fargo, for a joint hearing with the Interstate Commerce commission on increased grain rates. Railroads operating between Minnesota and North Dakota points have applied for increases which would amount to approximately 20 per cent. Following the Fargo hearing another will be held at Moorhead.

KNUTE REINDAHL, VIOLIN MAKER, IS MADE A CITIZEN

8 MEN OF COAST GUARD CUTTER ARE BELIEVED DROWNED

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Their small boat seized by a squall and overturned, eight men of the United States coast guard cutter Morrill are known to have perished in the harbor here during the night.

The sole survivor, 19 year old Charles Taylor, engineer of the cutter, fought his way back to shore in the gale and he told today of the tragedy of what started out to be an expedition of mercy.

Still another victim may be listed, Taylor thought, but he was not certain, in his exhausted condition.

His story pictured men clinging desperately to an overturned sail boat, in the cold and dark, plucked off by death one by one as the storms and waves loosened their slender grasp.

BURGLARS KILL SIX WEEKS OLD BABY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Burglars early today killed a six weeks old baby by suffocation to prevent possible interference with their work.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen, wealthy residents of the fashionable Belmont hotel, walked into the room given over to John Raymond Allen, Jr., for a good night kiss at 1 a. m. and found the child smothered to death in its blankets. Mrs. Allen fainted and is in a serious condition.

The room was in disorder, all drawers had been ransacked and valuables were missing, Allen reported to police. Police are convinced that burglars smothered the child for fear it might cry and betray their presence.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Evidence of chloroform and burns, found on the face of six weeks old John Raymond Allen, Jr., today opened new avenues of investigation in the death of the child here during the night.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Allen, wealthy residents of a fashionable hotel, told police they found the child smothered in its crib, when they visited the nursery at 1 a. m. today. Allen also said the room had been ransacked. Police proceeded on the theory that burglars fearing interruption, smothered the child.

Police Captain John Naughton, in charge of the investigation, later announced that he had noticed the odor of chloroform in the room, and said there were burns on the child's face. Captain Naughton said he would question Mr. and Mrs. Allen, the infant's nurse and others in the hotel. Mrs. Allen is prostrated and under a physician's care, according to word from her suite.

Allen told police that he was in the front room of the suite virtually all the time, conferring with a business associate. After the conference he went out and drove his car to a garage. On his return he and Mrs. Allen went in for a look at the child, he said.

The door to the room had not been broken and the inference was that burglars entered with a key.

Captain Naughton was closeted with Mr. and Mrs. Allen for several hours today. Later he questioned Caroline Frogen, 60, the child's nurse.

Naughton found some medicated gauze and two small bottles in the baby's room. These he turned over to the city chemists for analysis.

Police said they determined that Mrs. Allen was in a sanatorium about three months before the baby was born for treatment for a nervous breakdown.

STEPHENSON SOON A "LIFER" IN PENITENTIARY

WAS FORMERLY "POWER BEHIND THE THRONE" IN INDIANA

FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING MISS MADGE OBERHOLTZER

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—D. C. Stephenson, the man, who, a few short months ago, was the "power behind the throne" in Indiana, within five days will be only a "lifer" in the state prison at Michigan City.

Sheriff Charles Gooding of Hamilton county, where the former Klan leader was convicted of second degree murder, announced today that under the law he must take Stephenson to prison within five days. Once within the gray walls of the prison, Stephenson will be shorn of the last vestige of his power and his identity will be lost. He will be known only by a number.

While his attorneys worked overtime in an effort to perfect an appeal to the supreme court, Stephenson calmly smokes, expresses confidence that a new trial will be granted and he will be freed.

A jury found the ex-dragon guilty of second degree murder, Saturday, for the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, and sentence was passed on him yesterday by Judge William M. Sparks of Rushville, who presided in the case.

MOBILIZE THE KENTUCKY GUARD, COPING WITH MOB

ALLEGED SLAYER OF SHERIFF FORTIFIES SELF IN A HYDEN BANK

ARMED MOB REPORTED TO BE BESIEGING THE STRUCTURE

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Company H, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, was mobilizing today preparatory to marching on Hyden, county seat of Leslie county, where an armed mob was reported besieging a Hyden bank, where the alleged slayer of Sheriff Joe Morgan has fortified himself.

Morgan was shot and killed by David Steel, a political opponent, during an election brawl, according to advices received here. Steel has concealed himself in the bank and is being protected by a score of armed followers, semi-official reports said.

Early advices said an encounter between Steel's protectors and Morgan's henchmen was imminent. Adjutant General Kehoe, upon being advised of the impending battle, ordered out the troops.

Kehoe was advised of the impending trouble in a telegram from Governor W. J. Fields, who was at Hindman, Knott county, adjacent to Leslie county, on a road inspection tour. Governor Fields, according to Captain James Wootton, commander of Company H, telegraphed that Judge Leslie Comb of Hyden, rode horseback all night to reach the executive and appeal for aid.

The governor telegraphed that Combs told him the town "was in a state of lawlessness beyond his control," and that armed camps were menacing one another. Wootton said.

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—Armed with machine guns, a company of state militiamen left here today for Hyden, Ky., where David Steel, a politician, accused of killing Sheriff Joe Morgan, has barricaded himself in the Citizens' National bank building and is protected from an irate mob by armed followers.

Steel who, according to reports, shot Morgan during an election brawl, was reported ready to surrender in orderly fashion but refused to leave his stronghold until assured that Morgan's henchmen, who are besieging the bank, would not harm him.

As the troops left Hazard, Morgan's adherents, heavily armed, were reported milling around the bank and a battle is feared.

The troops were dispatched at the instance of Governor Fields, who advised General Kehoe that "the situation was out of control" and a battle was imminent.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE HEADS NAT'L W. C. T. U.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., was unanimously elected president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union today to succeed Miss Anna Adams Gordon of Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Boole has been vice president of the national organization for several years. Her election today was made unanimous when she received 441 out of 566 votes cast for nomination.

Following election of Mrs. Boole to the presidency, Miss Gordon, the retiring leader, was unanimously elected honorary president of the national organization.

Miss Gordon, the retiring president, had held office for 10 years. She is relinquishing the national office to devote her time to local prohibition, following her recent election to the international presidency of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Boole, who is president of the New York State Women's Christian Temperance union, was formerly treasurer of the World Women's Christian Temperance union.

In the New York state primaries in 1920, Mrs. Boole ran for the United States senate against the present Republican senator, James W. Wadsworth, and polled the largest vote ever cast for a woman in America.

$75,000,000 FROM TAX DODGERS

2,000 AGENTS OF INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU ROUND UP DELINQUENTS

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Collection of back taxes from dodgers and delinquent tax payers will net the government about $75,000,000 this year, it was learned at the treasury department today.

Two thousand agents of the internal revenue bureau rounded up 350,000 persons during the first 9 months of the year, and from these the treasury was enriched nearly $50,000,000.

Driving on to a whirlwind finish, the investigators expect to add the remainder of the amount set for a goal before January 1. About 50,000 known delinquents remain to be rounded up.

Allen refused the judge's offer of a light sentence by waiving trial and insisted upon all his rights under the law.

At the bar of justice today his case was pleaded enthusiastically but ineffectually. He discoursed at length of social evils, trials of the road and touched occasionally upon his contention of innocence.

EXPOSING GANG OF BOOTLEGGERS

LATTER DEALT ONLY WITH MEN AND WOMEN OF WEALTH

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Exposing a gang of bootleggers, who dealt only with men and women of wealth, was threatened today by police in their investigation of the mysterious slaying of Paul Honkavaard, alias Paul Williamson.

Police are looking for a list of names of the persons who purchased liquor from the gang. This list is believed to contain the names of those to whom the liquor, which is said to have been smuggled across the border from Canada, was delivered.

As the body of Honkavaard, who was the son of a wealthy Negaunee, Mich., bus operator, lay in an undertaking parlor here, a large number of persons came to view it.

Police today are looking for a man, who is said to be wanted for other crimes and who, it is said, would be able to give details of the shooting of Honkavaard.

MRS. LANSDOWNE TAKES STAND IN DIRIGIBLE QUERY

TESTIFIES CONCERNING ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO "FIX" HER TESTIMONY

HER COUNSEL FORCIBLY EJECTED FROM COURT ROOM IN UPROAR

Washington, Nov. 17.—In one of the most turbulent sessions ever seen in Washington, Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne went on the witness stand before the Shenandoah court of inquiry here today to testify concerning an alleged attempt to "fix" her testimony on the part of Captain Paul Foley at a previous session of the board.

Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel, Joseph Davies, Washington attorney, was forcibly ejected from the court room before she took the stand amid a great hubbub and uproar.

Following this sensation Mrs. Lansdowne twice declined to testify at all, but ignoring her refusal, Major Henry Leonard, new judge advocate, put questions to her and received answers which she pliantly gave.

The turmoil started when Mrs. Lansdowne was called to the stand and Davies insisted on making a statement. He was denied the privilege and was put out of the room by a marine orderly, shouting and gesticulating. He was later permitted to return while the court discussed the propriety of letting Mrs. Lansdowne, a witness, and not a defendant, be represented by counsel.

Davies constantly interrupted with demands that "as a matter of common decency and justice, I think I ought to be heard," and was threatened with ejection again.

The court finally ruled that Davies should not appear as Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel.

"You may not prompt the witness as she is testifying," Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president, said.

"I do not want to prompt the witness, I want to protect her," Davies said. "I want her to have every ordinary right of every ordinary court outside of Russia."

Mrs. Lansdowne started to read a statement and Leonard interrupted. "I move that the witness be compelled to put away the memorandum in her hand," Leonard said.

"Then I suggest that she decline to testify," Davies shouted.

"You will be removed from the court if you say anything further," Jones shouted back.

"I move that he be removed from the room," Leonard said and Davies was removed.

The court again was in an uproar. "I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne said.

Davies walked over and talked to Leonard.

Jones called for an orderly and Davies was ejected from the room.

The court then proceeded to examine Mrs. Lansdowne.

"I move that the witness be compelled to put away the memorandum in her hand," Leonard said.

"Then I suggest that she decline to testify," Davies shouted.

"You will be removed from the court if you say anything further," Jones shouted back.

"I move that he be removed from the room," Leonard said and Davies was removed.

The court again was in an uproar. "I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne said.

Davies walked over and talked to Leonard.

8 MEN OF COAST GUARD CUTTER ARE BELIEVED DROWNED

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Their small boat seized by a squall and overturned, eight men of the United States coast guard cutter Morrill are known to have perished in the harbor here during the night.

The sole survivor, 19 year old Charles Taylor, engineer of the cutter, fought his way back to shore in the gale and he told today of the tragedy of what started out to be an expedition of mercy.

Still another victim may be listed, Taylor thought, but he was not certain, in his exhausted condition.

His story pictured men clinging desperately to an overturned sail boat, in the cold and dark, plucked off by death one by one as the storms and waves loosened their slender grasp.

BURGLARS KILL SIX WEEKS OLD BABY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Burglars early today killed a six weeks old baby by suffocation to prevent possible interference with their work.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen, wealthy residents of the fashionable Belmont hotel, walked into the room given over to John Raymond Allen, Jr., for a good night kiss at 1 a. m. and found the child smothered to death in its blankets. Mrs. Allen fainted and is in a serious condition.

The room was in disorder, all drawers had been ransacked and valuables were missing, Allen reported to police. Police are convinced that burglars smothered the child for fear it might cry and betray their presence.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Evidence of chloroform and burns, found on the face of six weeks old John Raymond Allen, Jr., today opened new avenues of investigation in the death of the child here during the night.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Allen, wealthy residents of a fashionable hotel, told police they found the child smothered in its crib, when they visited the nursery at 1 a. m. today. Allen also said the room had been ransacked. Police proceeded on the theory that burglars fearing interruption, smothered the child.

Police Captain John Naughton, in charge of the investigation, later announced that he had noticed the odor of chloroform in the room, and said there were burns on the child's face. Captain Naughton said he would question Mr. and Mrs. Allen, the infant's nurse and others in the hotel. Mrs. Allen is prostrated and under a physician's care, according to word from her suite.

Allen told police that he was in the front room of the suite virtually all the time, conferring with a business associate. After the conference he went out and drove his car to a garage. On his return he and Mrs. Allen went in for a look at the child, he said.

The door to the room had not been broken and the inference was that burglars entered with a key.

Captain Naughton was closeted with Mr. and Mrs. Allen for several hours today. Later he questioned Caroline Frogen, 60, the child's nurse.

Naughton found some medicated gauze and two small bottles in the baby's room. These he turned over to the city chemists for analysis.

Police said they determined that Mrs. Allen was in a sanatorium about three months before the baby was born for treatment for a nervous breakdown.

STEPHENSON SOON A "LIFER" IN PENITENTIARY

WAS FORMERLY "POWER BEHIND THE THRONE" IN INDIANA

FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING MISS MADGE OBERHOLTZER

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—D. C. Stephenson, the man, who, a few short months ago, was the "power behind the throne" in Indiana, within five days will be only a "lifer" in the state prison at Michigan City.

Sheriff Charles Gooding of Hamilton county, where the former Klan leader was convicted of second degree murder, announced today that under the law he must take Stephenson to prison within five days. Once within the gray walls of the prison, Stephenson will be shorn of the last vestige of his power and his identity will be lost. He will be known only by a number.

While his attorneys worked overtime in an effort to perfect an appeal to the supreme court, Stephenson calmly smokes, expresses confidence that a new trial will be granted and he will be freed.

A jury found the ex-dragon guilty of second degree murder, Saturday, for the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, and sentence was passed on him yesterday by Judge William M. Sparks of Rushville, who presided in the case.

MOBILIZE THE KENTUCKY GUARD, COPING WITH MOB

ALLEGED SLAYER OF SHERIFF
FORTIFIES SELF IN A HYDEN
BANK

ARMED MOB REPORTED TO BE BESIEGING THE STRUCTURE

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Company H, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, was mobilizing today preparatory to marching on Hyden, county seat of Leslie county, where an armed mob was reported besieging a Hyden bank, where the alleged slayer of Sheriff Joe Morgan has fortified himself.

Morgan was shot and killed by David Steel, a political opponent, during an election brawl, according to advices received here. Steel has concealed himself in the bank and is being protected by a score of armed followers, semi-official reports said.

Early advices said an encounter between Steel's protectors and Morgan's henchmen was imminent. Adjutant General Kehoe, upon being advised of the impending battle, ordered out the troops.

Kehoe was advised of the impending trouble in a telegram from Governor W. J. Fields, who was at Hindman, Knott county, adjacent to Leslie county, on a road inspection tour.

Governor Fields, according to Captain James Wootton, commander of Company H, telegraphed that Judge Leslie Comb of Hyden, rode horseback all night to reach the executive and appeal for aid.

The governor telegraphed that Combs told him the town "was in a state of lawlessness beyond his control," and that armed camps were menacing one another. Wootton said.

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—Armed with machine guns, a company of state militiamen left here today for Hyden, Ky., where David Steel, a politician, accused of killing Sheriff Joe Morgan, has barricaded himself in the Citizens' National bank building and is protected from an irate mob by armed followers.

Steel who, according to reports, shot Morgan during an election brawl, was reported ready to surrender in orderly fashion but refused to leave his stronghold until assured that Morgan's henchmen, who are besieging the bank, would not harm him.

As the troops left Hazard, Morgan's adherents, heavily armed, were reported milling around the bank and a battle is feared.

The troops were dispatched at the instance of Governor Fields, who advised General Kehoe that "the situation was out of control" and a battle was imminent.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE HEADS NAT'L W. C. T. U.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., was unanimously elected president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union today to succeed Miss Anna Adams Gordon of Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Boole has been vice president of the national organization for several years. Her election today was made unanimous when she received 441 out of 506 votes cast for nomination.

Following election of Mrs. Boole to the presidency, Miss Gordon, the retiring leader, was unanimously elected honorary president of the national organization.

Miss Gordon, the retiring president, had held office for 10 years. She is relinquishing the national office to devote her time to world prohibition, following her recent election to the international presidency of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Boole, who is president of the New York State Women's Christian Temperance union, was formerly treasurer of the World Women's Christian Temperance union.

In the New York state primaries in 1920, Mrs. Boole ran for the United States senate against the present Republican senator, James W. Wadsworth, and polled the largest vote ever cast for a woman in America.

$75,000,000 FROM TAX DODGERS

2,000 AGENTS OF INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU ROUND UP DELINQUENTS

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Collection of back taxes from dodgers and delinquent tax payers will net the government about $75,000,000 this year, it was learned at the treasury department today.

Two thousand agents of the internal revenue bureau rounded up 350,000 persons during the first 9 months of the year, and from these the treasury was enriched nearly $50,000,000.

Driving on to a whirlwind finish, the investigators expect to add the remainder of the amount set for a goal before January 1. About 50,000 known delinquents remain to be rounded up.

KNIGHT OF OPEN ROAD PLEADS HIS OWN CASE IN COURT

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—J. Allen, knight of the open road, arrested here yesterday on a vagrancy charge, exercised the right of a citizen to plead his case in court today.

Allen refused the judge's offer of a light sentence by waiving trial and insisted upon all his rights under the law.

At the bar of justice today his case was pleaded enthusiastically but ineffectually. He discoursed at length of social evils, trials of the road and touched occasionally upon his contention of innocence.

EXPOSING GANG OF BOOTLEGGERS

LATTER DEALT ONLY WITH MEN AND WOMEN OF WEALTH

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Exposing a gang of bootleggers, who dealt only with men and women of wealth, was threatened today by police in their investigation of the mysterious slaying of Paul Honkavaard, alias Paul Williamson.

Police are looking for a list of names of the persons who purchased liquor from the gang. This list is believed to contain the names of those to whom the liquor, which is said to have been smuggled across the border from Canada, was delivered.

As the body of Honkavaard, who was the son of a wealthy Neguene, Mich., bus operator, lay in an undertaking parlor here, a large number of persons came to view it.

Police today are looking for a man, who is said to be wanted for other crimes and who, it is said, would be able to give details of the shooting of Honkavaard.

MRS. LANSDOWNE TAKES STAND IN DIRIGIBLE QUERY

TESTIFIES CONCERNING ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO "FIX" HER TESTIMONY

HER COUNSEL FORCIBLY EJECTED FROM COURT ROOM IN UPROAR

Washington, Nov. 17.—In one of the most turbulent sessions ever seen in Washington, Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne went on the witness stand before the Shenandoah court of inquiry here today to testify concerning an alleged attempt to "fix" her testimony on the part of Captain Paul Foley at a previous session of the board.

Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel, Joseph Davies, Washington attorney, was forcibly ejected from the court room before she took the stand amid a great hubbub and uproar.

Following this sensation Mrs. Lansdowne twice declined to testify at all, but ignoring her refusal, Major Henry Leonard, new judge advocate, put questions to her and received answers which she pliantly gave.

The turmoil started when Mrs. Lansdowne was called to the stand and Davies insisted on making a statement. He was denied the privilege and was put out of the room by a marine orderly, shouting and gestulating. He was later permitted to return while the court discussed the propriety of letting Mrs. Lansdowne, a witness, and not a defendant, be represented by counsel.

Davies constantly interrupted with demands that "as a matter of common decency and justice, I think I ought to be heard," and was threatened with ejection again.

The court finally ruled that Davies should not appear as Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel. "You may not prompt the witness as she is testifying," Admiral Hillary P. Jones, president, said.

"I do not want to prompt the witness, I want to protect her," Davies said. "I want her to have every ordinary right of every ordinary court outside of Russia."

Mrs. Lansdowne started to read a statement and Leonard interrupted. "I move that the witness be compelled to put away the memorandum in her hand," Leonard said.

"Then I suggest that she decline to testify," Davies shouted.

"You will be removed from the court if you say anything further," Jones shouted back.

"I move that he be removed from the room," Leonard said and Davies was removed.

The court again was in an uproar. "I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne said.

Davies walked over and talked to Leonard.

Jones called for an orderly and Davies was ejected from the room.

The court then proceeded to examine Mrs. Lansdowne.

"I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne persisted.

"This court was convened to investigate the loss of the Shenandoah and I told you all of that before."

Leonard then proceeded to examine Mrs. Lansdowne without regard to her refusal to testify. He asked her about a newspaper interview.

"Did you say that Captain Foley attempted to make you give false testimony before this court?" asked Leonard.

"I do not think I used the word false."

"What did you say?" "I think I said 'He tried to get me to twist the facts.'"

She said the interview misquoted her in many instances.

"What did you say about the secretary of the navy?"

"I said that I did not accuse the secretary of the navy personally with the murder of my husband."

Leonard asked her if she said that the navy was sending her husband wrongly on political trips.

"I said more than that," she replied. "I said that the navy department was so stupid it had to be proven to them."

When the session resumed Leonard questioned Mrs. Lansdowne about statement of Frank Reid, counsel for Colonel William Mitchell, the Shenandoah court was trying "to whitewash the navy department."

"What do you think about it?" Leonard asked.

"I think the navy department went further than that and stooped so low that it had attempted to sway the widow of someone, who could not answer back," she replied. "What do you base your opinion on?"

"The fact that the judge advocate had attempted to sway my testimony (Continued on page 8)

VAUDEVILLE AT PARK

Excellent Bill of Ackerman & Harris Circuit Provided Tonight

Here is the vaudeville bill provided at the New Park tonight and remember a paid admission ticket and a Dispatch coupon clipped from the paper admits two adults. Two shows are given, at 7 and 9:15 p. m.

Among the good things on the bill is the Danseuse International. This act on its first American tour offers distinctive novelties. Esther Ober and Arthur Dumont, South American dancers, are the originators. It is claimed, of the Argentine tango and present a series of novelty dances. This act carries a special South American set of scenery. Lloyd Mann, late with a Broadway production, is another feature in this act.

Billy and Cora Monahan do a twelve minutes act of coon shouting and talking, all comedy, and sing songs. Lots of pep is displayed in regular minstrel style.

Nile Marsh is one of the leading portrayers of feminine types. He is original in that his character studies are all done in travesty. He has a voice of soprano quality and appears beautifully gown.

Ricardo & Ashforth are supreme in a big aerial novelty which has won big applause on the circuit. Raymond, the xylophonist, puts on a fine act and extracts wonderful musical tones and effects from the instrument.

And then there's a good picture accompanying, making the evening a delightful one.

SLAYER OF NEGRO TAXI DRIVER TO GO TO THE 'CHAIR'

Newark, N. J., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Harison W. Noel, 20 year old slayer of Raymond Pierce, negro taxi driver, will go to his death in the electric chair unless higher courts intervene.

The Montpelier youth was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night. Sentence will be pronounced next Monday but famed "Jersey justice" permits nothing but the death chair as the penalty for Noel's crime.

Noel, who also kidnaped and killed six year old Mary Daly of Montclair, did not raise an eye or move a muscle when the verdict was read haltingly.

William W. Wachenfeld, who was assigned by the court as Noel's attorney, when the youth's father failed to furnish counsel, said the verdict would be appealed. The defense pleaded that Noel was a victim of dementia praecox.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT BY THE BELL RINGERS

Nearly 600 People Heard the Program Given at the First Methodist Church

FIVE ARTISTS PLAYED 189 BELLS
Local Talent Contributed Several Numbers to the Evening's Entertainment

An audience of nearly 600 people crowded the First Methodist church to listen to the concert given by the Scandinavian Bell Ringers on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Swedish Bethany church. The audience began arriving at 7 o'clock and 15 minutes before starting nearly every seat was taken.

Hand bell music was new to the majority of the audience and the charm of the music held the listeners as if spell-bound from the opening note of the bells in "Lustspell" Overture, Op. 73, to the last note of "The Star Spangled Banner." It was not only the music of silvery bells that moved the listeners to thunderous applause, but the symphony of human motion that caught the audience as it watched the five men pick the bells from the table, shake them with a deft twist of the wrist in perfect time and harmony, one with the other, and deposit them again in their proper place at the right time, getting a full note or a short, quick note at will. At times there were ten bells in the air, and then but one or two but always perfect harmony and rhythm.

It is hard to say which number of the program was best, as every number was very well rendered. "The Blacksmith's Shop in the Forest," by Parlow, held the attention of the audience as most of them marked silent time, now fast, now slow, and all eyes were fastened on the graceful movements of the players. "Bjornegarnes March" and "Swedish Folk Songs" caused thrills to run through the audience, especially those of Scandinavian descent who had heard them played on other instruments in the countries across the sea many times. The artists brought out the clear sweet tones of the bells in a most pleasing manner in "Evening Chimes" by Marzian. They responded with two encores, one of which was "Ring Ye Bells of Heaven." This seemed to fairly lift the audience to perfect quiet, as the players deftly drew the sweetest of music from the 189 bells, getting the most difficult and brilliant runs and melodies, now near and again as if in the far distance.

Mention of the concert would not be complete without calling attention to the local talent on the program. "To the Sun" and "I Know," contralto solos by Miss Cora Rickard were very pleasing and well given. Miss Esther Fogelstrom sang "Evening Brings Rest and You," in a pleasing manner and as an encore responded with "Ship Mates O' Mine," in a clear, sweet voice. Miss Lorraine Morrison very ably accompanied both singers. Miss Edna Anderson gave a reading, "Billy Brad and the Forbidden Fruit," in an entertaining way. Some comments made by prominent people after the concert were: "Wonderful," "Most wonderful concert I ever heard," "Beyond description," "The sweetest music imaginable."

Mr. Quirk did pray, and if he made a bad job of it, as he more than suspected, neither of his earthly hearers noticed the fact, for his words were honest, earnest. When he had finished Tom Linton's arm was around his shoulders; side by side the old men sat for a long time. Their heads were bowed; they kept their eyes upon Rouletta Kirby's face. Doret stood over them, motionless and intense; they could hear him sigh and they could sense his suffering. When the girl's pain caused her to cry out weakly, he knelt and whispered words of comfort to her.

Thus the night wore on. The change came an hour or two before dawn and the three men watched it with their hearts in their throats. Mutely they questioned one another, deriving deep comfort from each confirmatory nod and gesture, but for some time they dared not voice their growing hope. Rouletta's fever was breaking, they felt sure; she breathed more deeply, more easily, and she coughed less. Her discomfort lessened, too, and finally, when the candle-light grew feeble before the signs of coming day, she fell asleep. Later the men rose and stole out of the tent into the cold.

Doret was broken. He was limp, almost lifeless; there were deep lines about his eyes, but, nevertheless, they sparkled.

"She's goin' get well," he said, uncertainly. "I'm goin' teach dat lil' bird to fly again."

The partners nodded. "Sure as shootin'," Jerry declared. "Right-o!" Linton agreed. "Now then"—he spoke in an energetic, purposeful tone—"I'm going to put Jerry to bed while I nail that infernal boat together again."

"Not much, you ain't!" Jerry exclaimed. "You know I couldn't sleep a wink without you, Tom. What's more, I'll never try."

Arm in arm the two partners set off down the river-bank. "Poleon smiled after them. When they were out of sight he turned his face up to the brightening sky and said, aloud: "Bon Dieu, I thank you for my sister's life."

Pierce Phillips awoke from a cramped and troubled slumber to find himself lying upon a pile of baggage in the stern of a skiff. For a moment he remained dazed; then he was surprised to hear the monotonous creak of oars and to feel that he was in motion. A fur robe had been thrown over him; it was powdered with snowflakes, but it had kept him warm. He sat up to discover Laure facing him.

"Hello!" said he. "You here?" The girl smiled wearily. "Where did you think I'd be? Have a good sleep?"

He shrugged and nodded, and, turning his eyes shoreward, saw that the forest was flowing slowly past. The boat in which he found himself was stowed full of impedimenta; forward of Laure a man was rowing listlessly, and on the seat beyond him were two female figures bundled to the ears in heavy wraps. They were the 'coon-shouting sisters whose song had drawn Pierce into the Gold Belt Saloon the evening before. In the distance were several other boats.

"You feel tough, I'll bet," Laure's voice was sympathetic.

After a moment of consideration Pierce shook his head. "No," said he. "I feel fine—except that I'm hungry. I could eat a log-chain."

"No headache?" "None. Why?" Laure's brown eyes widened in admiration and astonishment. "Jimminy! You're a hound for punishment. You must have oak ribs. Were you weaned on rum?"

"I never took a drink until last night. I'm a rank amateur."

"Really!" The girl studied him with renewed interest. "What set you off?"

Pierce made no answer. His face seemed fixed in a frown. His was a tragic past; he could not bear to think of it, much less could he speak of it. Noting that the oarsman appeared to be weary, Pierce volunteered to relieve him, an offer which was quickly accepted. As he seated himself and prepared to fall to work Laure advised him: "Better count your money and see if it's all there."

He did as directed. "It's all here," he assured her. She flashed him a smile, then crept into the place he had vacated and drew up the robe snugly. Pierce wondered why she eyed him with that peculiar intensity. Not until she had fallen asleep did he suspect with a guilty start that the robe was hers and that she had patiently waited for him to finish his sleep while she herself was drooping with fatigue. This suspicion gave him a disagreeable shock; he began to give some thought to the nature of his new surroundings. They were of a sort to warrant consideration; for a long time he rowed mechanically, a frown upon his brow.

In the first place, he was amazed to find how bravely he bore the anguish of a breaking heart, and how little he desired to do away with himself. The world, strangely enough still remained a pleasant place, and already the fret for new adventure was stirring in him. He was not happy—thoughts of Hilda awoke real pain, and his sense of injury burned him like a brand—nevertheless, he could not make himself feel so utterly hopeless, so blackly despondent as the circumstances plainly warranted. He was, on the whole, agreeably surprised at his powers of resistance and of recuperation, both physical and emotional. For instance, he should by all means experience a wretched reaction from his inebrity; as a matter of fact, he had never felt better in his life; his head was clear, he was ravenously hungry. Then, too, he was not altogether hopeless; it seemed quite probable that he and Hilda would again meet, in which event there was no telling what might happen. Evidently liquor agreed with him; in his case it was not only an anodyne, but also a stimulant, spurring him to optimistic thought and independent action. Yes, whisky roused a fellow's manhood. It must be so, otherwise he would never have summoned the strength to snap those chains which bound him to the Countess Courteau, or the reckless courage to embark upon an enterprise so foreign to his tastes and to his training as this one. Long Ago

An automobile race which for thrills rivals that of the annual Indianapolis Classic, furnishes a real "smash" climax in more than one sense of the word for the Sidney Olcott-Paramount production, "Not So Long Ago," which will be shown tonight and Wednesday at the Lyceum theatre.

On a street lined with more than five hundred people—an exact replica of Fifth Avenue, New York, in the late '50's—the race is run between the first horseless carriage

Mounted high on the rattling, wood-consuming contraption, Betty Bronson, featured with Ricardo Cortez in the leading roles of the picture, and Dan Crimmins, who plays her inventive father, race Laurence Wheat, in an antiquated track outfit, the remarkable distance of one city block.

Due to a faulty start upon the part of the horseless carriage, it is necessary to begin the race again. The judges are still trying to decide the winner, inasmuch as the horseless carriage blew up just as it was crossing the finish line.

MAKE THE ROADS SAFE

"MAKE the Roads Safe" is the title of an editorial written by the Duluth Herald which is so apt and expressive that it has been used in publicity work by the Minnesota Highway Department.

"In view of the sad list of automobile killings," says the Duluth Herald, "good citizens continue to suggest new rules for the road. In truth there are rules in plenty now, most of them wise, none of which are observed by the lawless. One great fact is that good citizens at the wheel do not need much legal restraint. They drive safely because they respect the rights of others, because they are courteous and because violence and bad manners disgust them. With the bad citizen, the reckless one, it is altogether different. He restrains himself only under compulsion. Laws are for the evil-minded.

"For all that there must be laws, rules under which violators may be punished when caught. Experts at Washington are suggesting a code for drivers. The big basic rule they offer is a good one: 'No vehicle shall be operated at a speed such that it cannot be stopped within the assured clear space ahead.'

"If all drivers would abide by this rule, accidents would be few. In fact, millions of careful drivers govern themselves by the idea of this rule even now. They keep a clear distance behind the car ahead, knowing that it may suddenly, and often rightfully stop. They do not drive rapidly on the wrong side of curves and they never dart across intersections or railroad tracks without caution.

It's different with the reckless and lawless driver. He doesn't care, and if the Washington suggestion becomes the law, he will violate it when he can. He does not respect the rights of others and gets drunk on the exhilaration of speed and risk. Thus we get back to the idea that laws are for the lawless. As they are and will be lawless, so there must be laws. This leads to the conclusion that severe penalties should be inflicted on those who make the highways dangerous. Public opinion must awaken. Good people must help. It is not enough for a careful driver to obey the law himself. He should, even at personal sacrifice, even to discomfort, see to it that those who break the laws are brought to book.

WHY NOT A TRAINER AT HOME?

WE read a lot about Jack Dempsey and his trainer, and the football boys and their coaches and trainers, and we have often wondered why does the home run without training instruction.

Now father can receive instruction in training and when son has completed chopping a pile of wood mountain high, dad can give the boy a bath and then rub him down and turn him out fit as a fiddle. When ma has a heavy washing or scrubbing and her arm muscles pain her, then dad can minister treatment and rub down her arms.

When sister's fingers cramp from too much dishwashing, pa can come to the rescue again and relieve the terrible pain. You know some girls of 16 so delight to do dishwashing that mother never gets a chance at this task any more.

There are a hundred and one ways in which a thorough knowledge of training stuff and proper treatment of over-exerted muscles will restore happiness to any home.

Rev. Morris L. Eversz of the First Methodist Episcopal church gave a lecture on "Gustavus Adolphus" the sixth king of Sweden to Troop No. 1 and their parents and friends last night.

The lecture was given at the First Methodist church by troop No. 1 under the leadership of their very able Scoutmaster, A. E. Hagel. Boys sold tickets for the lecture in order to reimburse their troop treasury. Scouts met their guests at the door and ushered them into the hall in true scout fashion. Eagle Scout Dale

Sanders, Crow Wing Council's first Eagle Scout, introduced the speaker to the large group assembled.

Rev. Eversz proved himself a most entertaining speaker in presenting this bit of history. His story of this young Swedish king using strategy in his battles was highly colorful and kept everyone interested to the end. The humor used throughout was side-splitting and succeeded in making the speaker a real friend of troop No. 1.

Scouts of Troop No. 1 are all downhearted and rightfully so, as they are going to lose their Scoutmaster, A. E. Hagel, the first of the month. Mr. Hagel brought Troop No. 1 up to one of the foremost troops of Crow Wing Council. Rev. Morris L. Eversz has consented to take the place of Scoutmaster of this troop. We are all certain that he will make a big success of it and follow right along in the footsteps of Mr. Hagel.

MAKE THE ROADS SAFE

"MAKE the Roads Safe" is the title of an editorial written by the Duluth Herald which is so apt and expressive that it has been used in publicity work by the Minnesota Highway Department.

"In view of the sad list of automobile killings," says the Duluth Herald, "good citizens continue to suggest new rules for the road. In truth there are rules in plenty now, most of them wise, none of which are observed by the lawless. One great fact is that good citizens at the wheel do not need much legal restraint. They drive safely because they respect the rights of others, because they are courteous and because violence and bad manners disgust them. With the bad citizen, the reckless one, it is altogether different. He restrains himself only under compulsion. Laws are for the evil-minded.

"For all that there must be laws, rules under which violators may be punished when caught. Experts at Washington are suggesting a code for drivers. The big basic rule they offer is a good one: 'No vehicle shall be operated at a speed such that it cannot be stopped within the assured clear space ahead.'

"If all drivers would abide by this rule, accidents would be few. In fact, millions of careful drivers govern themselves by the idea of this rule even now. They keep a clear distance behind the car ahead, knowing that it may suddenly, and often rightfully stop. They do not drive rapidly on the wrong side of curves and they never dart across intersections or railroad tracks without caution.

It's different with the reckless and lawless driver. He doesn't care, and if the Washington suggestion becomes the law, he will violate it when he can. He does not respect the rights of others and gets drunk on the exhilaration of speed and risk. Thus we get back to the idea that laws are for the lawless. As they are and will be lawless, so there must be laws. This leads to the conclusion that severe penalties should be inflicted on those who make the highways dangerous. Public opinion must awaken. Good people must help. It is not enough for a careful driver to obey the law himself. He should, even at personal sacrifice, even to discomfort, see to it that those who break the laws are brought to book.

WHY NOT A TRAINER AT HOME?

We read a lot about Jack Dempsey and his trainer, and the football boys and their coaches and trainers, and we have often wondered why does the home run without training instruction.

Now father can receive instruction in training and when son has completed chopping a pile of wood mountain high, dad can give the boy a bath and then rub him down and turn him out fit as a fiddle. When ma has a heavy washing or scrubbing and her arm muscles pain her, then dad can minister treatment and rub down her arms.

When sister's fingers cramp from too much dishwashing, pa can come to the rescue again and relieve the terrible pain. You know some girls of 16 so delight to do dishwashing that mother never gets a chance at this task any more.

There are a hundred and one ways in which a thorough knowledge of training stuff and proper treatment of over-exerted muscles will restore happiness to any home.

The home can be brought to such a high state of efficiency that when pa wants to rouse the youngest member from his deep slumbers, he need not bawl, "Get up" so that the neighbors will hear him—all he has to say is "7-11-46" and the youthful heir will tear out of bed and come down stairs in six jumps.

We think that a grand opportunity has been lost in home-life. All of this athletic stuff at high schools and universities can be saved and transplanted to the home and made use of.

Even the baby can be trained in its yelling stunts. Given a mother who has been a cheer leader, she of course will know how to produce better and louder noise and baby will profit accordingly.

If athletics is the success it is, why not continue the training stuff through life. It will keep women slender, men will shed their baywindow stomachs, and the doctors will be worried and the undertakers grow sadder as they see a new race which absolutely refuses to get sick or to die.

HUMOR

A green Freshman had his marks mixed up and thought they stood like this: A—awful; B—bad; C—correct; D—dandy; E—excellent.

Teacher—Perry's victory was in 1813.

Bright Pupil—I thought we were talking about the War of 1812.

A teacher was testing her pupils for current topics. That day it happened to be about Russia.

She asked—"Who is the ruler of Russia?"

Class—"Czar."

Teacher—"What is the Czar's wife called?"

Class—"Czarina."

Teacher—"What are the children of the Czar called?"

Bright Pupil—"Czardines."

Miss Hall (Ancient History class)—Why did Alexander the Great go to India?

Bobby A.—To get some spices and a cup of tea.

Mr. Beresford—"What is an income tax?"

Ant. K.—It's when you sit on some ticks.

Mr. B.—"You don't see the point."

Ant.—"No, you feel it."

Miss Bowers—Were you copying Jimmie's work?

Ray A.—No, I was just looking to see if he had mine right.

Lee Avery—"What's worse than raining cats and dogs?"

Don Marshall—Hailing street cars.

Milton P.—My girl eats like a canary.

Dick M.—How's that?

Milton—She eats a peck at a time.

Muff—Say, Bill, is that bay-rum in that bottle?

Bill—No, it's muckilage.

Muff—No wonder I can't get my hat off.

Said one Gold Dust Twin to the other, Lux against us.

Dick M.—Were you hurt while on the eleven?

Hugh P.—No, while the eleven was on me.

(In Physiology class) Mr. J.—What effect has alcohol on the body?

Joe C.—It burns the heart.

Bus Fitz—"Gosh, you're dumb."

Why don't you get an encyclopedia?

Jim Tinks—"The pedals hurt my feet."

NORMAL TRAINING
GIRLS ENJOY BANQUET

The Normal girls lost little time after the election of class officers, for they held a sumptuous banquet in the Sewing room last Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock. Miss Waterman, out of the kindness of her heart, allowed us to drop our pursuit of learning earlier, so as to allow "progenitors" of the eats time to prove their culinary art. Perhaps we should not describe the food of the banquet with such a vulgar word as "eats" but it tasted like more either way we expressed it. The menu was as follows:

Cream of Tomato Soup
Meat Loaf Escalloped potatoes
Creamed peas Hot buttered rolls
Dill Pickles
Maple-nut ice cream Wafers
Cocoa

Elsie Linn, our president, presided. As is always said and done, music was dispensed between courses.

Conversation grew, languished and retired, showing that we held to the maxim "Silence is golden," or more probably to our doing full justice to each and every course. One girl ably expressed it as being due to our superior intelligence. We wonder?

Just as we were all gathered about the piano, intent upon making the party a "howling success," Mr. Swanson interrupted us by saying that both Miss Oerting and Miss Rickard were going to use the room so we repaired to the kitchen. There we demonstrated the use of the dish towel and dish pan with great adroitness.

ARMISTICE DAY

PROGRAM HELD

Wednesday, November 11, a short patriotic program was given in the high school assembly in recognition of Armistice Day. Although neither a lengthy nor an elaborate one, the program seemed to be very much enjoyed by everyone, especially as it afforded a relief from classes.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Rickard, played a stirring march, which was followed by the recitation of that well known poem, "Flanders Fields," by Helen Marie Stadler, Carl Zapffe rendered "America's Answer" in a manner in accordance with the spirit of the day.

A portion of the girls' glee club, showing evidence of Miss Rickard's able coaching, sang the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust. Two patriotic poems, "A Tribute to the Soldiers," recited by Phoebe Jack and "To The Flag" by Lucille Roark, came next on the program, which was brought to a close by two selections played by the orchestra.

PETITIONS

There are petitions and petitions but the sort that circulated around school last Wednesday pertained to the advisability of having a holiday on Armistice Day.

Because the high school students had had a two days holiday while the Teachers went to M. E. A. and because of the Thanksgiving holiday next week, the school board squelched the idea of another lay-off. So, when Miss Tornstrom arrived at school Wednesday afternoon she found many petitions and their originators there awaiting her. The documents were lengthy and although some lacked the standard amount of whereases and therefore, and were written in a style that made one think that the writers could never pass a minimum essentials test in English, the main idea was set forth complete—yes, quite complete as the Congressional Record.

The students seemed to be quite favorably impressed for their signatures covered several sheets of otherwise perfectly good paper. Miss Tornstrom, however, called these laboriously written and very genuine petitions scraps of paper and announced that school was one of the things we were going to have the most of—just like tea, or well, almost.

THE MIXED GRADE

ELECTS OFFICERS

The Mixed Grade held its annual election last Monday and although it was held rather late it was thought advisable in order that the students might know each other well enough to choose people capable of handling the offices.

Donald Geist was awarded the distinction of heading the class as President.

Ina Rand came in a close second and was made Vice President. Carolyn Menz will be entrusted with handling the funds as Treasurer and Myrtle Hegstad, Secretary, will keep accounts of all meetings held.

With such capable officers the Mixed Graders feel that their will be a year of prosperity and several social functions have already been planned to take place during the year.

Mr. Johnson in room behind class room with Helen looking for him.

Mr. J.—I'm coming, Helen.

Helen—Oh, I knew you would.

B. H. S. CLOSES FOOTBALL SEASON
WITH A VICTORY OVER AITKINOld Rose and Yellow
are Junior Class Colors

The Juniors were called together or a few moments last Monday night to choose their class colors. After due deliberation a vote was taken and the lucky winners were old rose and yellow. Our president then announced a party on the twenty-fifth of this month and appointed a refreshment committee that knew how to prepare appetizing dishes and a peppy entertainment committee, which assures a good time to all those who attend. For the first time we have noticed that the Juniors seem very shy—shy about paying their dues—nobody is going to hurt you, buddy, so let's see some action in that direction.

FRESHMEN HOLD
FIRST PARTY

Were you at the Freshman party? You missed something if you weren't. At 7:30 P. M. the Freshmen gathered at school dressed in hard time costumes. There was the sheriff, a Mexican, farmers and tramps and for a half hour they entertained themselves, after which time the games started.

The captains were appointed and they chose in turn those wanted on their side, each bleacher had an even number of people, and names were selected, being Notre Dame, Paris, Barrows and last, but not least, Brainerd.

The first game was dodge ball and enough five minute games were played to give all a chance to play twice; points were given to the sides winning, according to the number left in the inside ring.

The next game was a trip to New York; there were two suitcases filled with almost everything imaginable in the line of old fashioned, and funny wearing apparel. Each side appointed its representatives and two sides contested at a time. The contestants had to put on the clothes in their appointed suitcases, go to the other end of the gym, take the clothes off and put them in the suitcases and return to the starting place.

The first one back, of course, won. This kept the whole gym roaring with laughter. Then there was a real race, and a one hundred yards dash. Each one was given a piece of string, one end of which he put in his mouth, and the first one to get all of the string in his mouth without the aid of his hands was the winner.

Darrel McDonald won, and received a prize for the speed. He ought to make a good pie-eater. All then lined up for a grand march and the best costumes were judged. Ruth Kuntz won the girls' prize and Lawrence Swanson the prize for the boys' costume. Paris received a huge bag of peanuts for the highest score through the games. A line was formed then, and all expected to play last couple out but surprised themselves by a raid on the kitchen and eats!

They were satisfied with a generous plate of cake, sandwiches, and a large cup of delicious cocoa. When this was finished, all too soon they all started to leave, having had a grand evening and hoping for more parties in the near future.

US NORMAL CADETS

The Normal girls at last held their meeting for organization. After much laughter, a great deal of joshing, and counting of votes, we finally decided upon pilots to steer our ship of state in triumph to our final destination. Elsie Linn is the brave and loyal captain, while Irene Young gracefully consented to assist her as first mate with these solicitous words, "Hope you don't get sick, Elsie!"

Because of Myla Trask's well-known power of the extraction of dues, she was chosen as second mate to collect our money. She woefully declared, "Hope I don't lose all my friends. We're with you Myla—go to it. Because of our great esteem for Miss Templeton and her oft expressed desire to procure more knowledge of arithmetic, we joyfully pronounced her purser to guard our untold wealth. Bessie Smith was unanimously elected as our stalwart Sergeant-at-arms. We just know she will not permit anyone to invade our sanctuary. And last but not least, is Miss Waterman, our adviser, counselor, teacher, pupil (when others are not handy), gym teacher, art instructor, "n everything rolled in one small person. We are all hoping to be half as excellent an instructor as she. "Ray for our side, we are all there!"

Football boy—"Please, may I go and argue with Miss Lohr to see if I can get up?"

He—The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.

She—Then you rule the world awhile.

HUMOR

A green Freshman had his marks mixed up and thought they stood like this: A—awful; B—bad; C—correct; D—dandy; E—excellent.

Teacher—Perry's victory was in 1812.
Bright Pupil—I thought we were talking about the War of 1812.

A teacher was testing her pupils for current topics. That day it happened to be about Russia.

She asked—"Who is the ruler of Russia?"

Class—"Czar."

Teacher—"What is the Czar's wife called?"

Class—"Czarina."

Teacher—"What are the children of the Czar called?"

Bright Pupil—"Czardines."

Miss Hall (Ancient History class)—Why did Alexander the Great go to India?

Bobby A.—To get some spices and a cup of tea.

Mr. Beresford—"What is an income tax?"

Ant. K.—It's when you sit on some taxes.

Mr. B.—"You don't see the point."

Ant.—"No, you feel it."

Miss Bowers—Were you copying Jimmie's work?

Ray A.—No, I was just looking to see if he had mine right.

Lee Avery—What's worse than raining cats and dogs?

Don Marshall—Hailing street cars.

Milton P.—My girl eats like a canary.

Dick M.—How's that?

Milton—She eats a peck at a time.

Muff—Say, Bill, is that bay-rum in that bottle?

Bill—No, it's muckilage.

Muff—No wonder I can't get my hat off.

Said one Gold Dust Twin to the other, Lux against us.

Dick M.—Were you hurt while on the eleven?

Hugh P.—No, while the eleven was on me.

(In Physiology class) Mr. J.—What effect has alcohol on the body?

Joe C.—It burns the heart.

Bus Fitz—"Gosh, you're dumb.

Why don't you get an encyclopedia?"

Jim Tinks—"The pedals hurt my feet."

NORMAL TRAINING GIRLS ENJOY BANQUET

The Normal girls lost little time after the election of class officers, for they held a sumptuous banquet in the Sewing room last Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock. Miss Waterman, out of the kindness of her heart, allowed us to drop our pursuit of learning earlier, so as to allow "progenitors" of the cats time to prove their culinary art. Perhaps we should not describe the food of the banquet with such a vulgar word as "cats" but it tasted like more either way we expressed it. The menu was as follows:

Cream of Tomato Soup
Meat Loaf Escalloped potatoes
Creamed peas Hot buttered rolls
Dill Pickles
Maple-nut cream Wafers
Cocoa

Elsie Linn, our president, presided. As is always said and done, music was dispensed between courses. Conversation grew, languished and retired, showing that we hold to the maxim "Silence is golden," or more probably to our doing full justice to each and every course. One girl ably expressed it as being due to our superior intelligence. We wonder?

Just as we were all gathered about the piano, intent upon making the party a "howling success," Mr. Swanson interrupted us by saying that both Miss Oerting and Miss Rickard were going to use the room so we repaired to the kitchen. There we demonstrated the use of the dish towel and dish pan with great adroitness.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM HELD

Wednesday, November 11, a short patriotic program was given in the high school assembly in recognition of Armistice Day. Although neither a lengthy nor an elaborate one, the program seemed to be very much enjoyed by everyone, especially as it afforded a relief from classes.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Rickard, played a stirring march, which was followed by the recitation of that well known poem, "Plander's Fields" by Helen Marie Stadlbauer. Carl Zapfe rendered "America's Answer" in a manner in accordance with the spirit of the day.

A portion of the girls' glee club, showing evidence of Miss Rickard's able coaching, sang the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust. Two patriotic poems, "A Tribute to the Soldiers," recited by Phoebe Jack and "To The Flag" by Lucille Roark, came next on the program, which was brought to a close by two selections played by the orchestra.

PETITIONS

There are petitions and petitions but the sort that circulated around school last Wednesday pertained to the advisability of having a holiday on Armistice Day.

Because the high school students had had a two days holiday when the Teachers went to M. E. A. and because of the Thanksgiving holiday next week, the school board squelched the idea of another lay-off. So, when Miss Tornstrom arrived at school Wednesday afternoon, she found many petitions and their originators there awaiting her. The documents were lengthy and although some lacked the standard amount of whereases and therefore, and were written in a style that made one think that the writers could never pass a minimum essentials test in English, the main idea was set forth complete—yes, quite as complete as the Congressional Record. The students seemed to be quite favorably impressed for their signatures covered several sheets of otherwise perfectly good paper. Miss Tornstrom, however, called these petitions scraps of paper and announced that school was one of the things we were going to have the most of—just like that, or well, almost.

Saturday, November twenty-first is "Community and Health Day."

The school is an important feature of the community so health should be guarded in school. Health is the first importance, therefore every citizen and pupil should help in the protection and promotion of the common health.

Sunday, November twenty-second, "For God and Country." Slogans for the day: A Godly nation can not fall. Visit your church today. Religion is an important essential for good government. Religious education should be taught in the home as well as in your church.

Miss Lohr—You should be smart in Geometry.

Student—43 A. D.

Miss Lohr—Your head is both plane and smooth.

Miss Erstad in physical Geog.—"Take these notes on gold."

Helen Braski—"Would it be all right if we took them on paper?"

Prof.—When did Cicero die.

Student—43 A. D.

Prof.—A. D. You mean B. C.

Student—43 years after birth.

Miss Huntley—"Why was it that Austria went to pieces after the world war?"

Morris—"Because they took her apart."

Mr. Johnson in room behind class room with Helen looking for him.

Mr. J.—Am coming, Helen.

Helen—Oh, I knew you would.

B. H. S. CLOSES FOOTBALL SEASON WITH A VICTORY OVER AITKIN

Old Rose and Yellow are Junior Class Colors

The Juniors were called together a few moments last Monday night to choose their class colors. After due deliberation a vote was taken and the lucky winners were old rose and yellow. Our president then announced a party on the twenty-fifth of this month and appointed a refreshment committee that knew how to prepare appetizing dishes and a peppy entertainment committee which assures a good time to all those who attend. For the first time we have noticed that the Juniors seem very shy—shy about paying their dues—nobody is going to hurt you, buddy, so let's see some action in that direction.

FRESHMEN HOLD FIRST PARTY

Were you at the Freshman party? You missed something if you weren't. At 7:30 P. M. the Freshmen gathered at school dressed in hard time costumes. There was the sheriff, a Mexican, farmers and tramps, and for a half hour they entertained themselves, after which time the games started.

The captains were appointed and they chose in turn those wanted on their side, each bleacher had an even number of people, and names were selected, being Notre Dame, Paris, Barrows and last, but not least, Brainerd.

The first game was dodge ball and enough five minute games were played to give all a chance to play twice; points were given to the sides winning, according to the number left in the inside ring.

The next game was a trip to New York; there were two suitcases filled with almost everything imaginable in the line of old fashioned, and funny wearing apparel. Each side appointed its representatives and two sides contested at a time. The contestants had to put on the clothes in their appointed suitcases, go to the other end of the gym, take the clothes off and put them in the suitcases and return to the starting place.

The first one back, of course, won. This kept the whole gym roaring with laughter. Then there was a real race, and a one hundred yards dash. Each one was given a piece of string, one end of which he put in his mouth, and the first one to get all of the string in his mouth without the aid of his hands was the winner.

Darrel McDonald won, and received a prize for the speed. He ought to make a good pie-eater. All then lined up for a grand march and the best costumes were judged. Ruth Kunz won the girl's prize and Lawrence Swanson the prize for the boys' costume. Paris received a huge bag of peanuts for the highest score through the games. A line was formed then, and all expected to find a couple out but surprised themselves by a raid on the kitchen and eats!

They were satisfied with a generous plate of cake, sandwiches, and a large cup of delicious cocoa. When this was finished, all too soon they all started to leave, having had a grand evening and hoping for more parties in the near future.

Brainerd High won the last game of the year, by defeating Aitkin on the latter's field, 12 to 6. The Brainerd team had not won a game yet but had played a tie earlier in the season with Aitkin, and were set on closing the season with a victory. Although Brainerd should have won by a large score, a victory is a victory and that's what they were after.

Brainerd took the ball on the kickoff and without even an exchange of punts, charged down the field for a touchdown. Welliver putting the ball over, but he failed in his try for the extra point. Score first quarter, Brainerd, 6; Aitkin, 0. Early in the second quarter when the ball was deep in Brainerd territory, Putz was forced to punt from behind his own goal line. The punt was blocked and Aitkin fell on the ball for a touchdown. When there was but three minutes of play left in the half, Brainerd began a charge for another touchdown. Aitkin, in an attempt to stop the attack, began holding. Aitkin was penalized up to within two yards of their own goal line. After a ten minute argument the people were quieted down and Putz went over for the second touchdown on the next play, as the half ended; score, Aitkin, 6; Brainerd, 12.

In the second half the Brainerd team was greatly weakened by the absence of Putz, but fought hard to prevent an Aitkin score. An Aitkin fumble and an intercepted pass eliminated Aitkin's chance of scoring. The game ended with the ball still in Aitkin territory.

Basketball

Coach Beresford called a meeting last night for those who were going out for basketball. His room was filled with many anxious candidates. Besides three letter men, Tribur, Whitlock, and Avery, there was, among those present, a letter man from Missouri and one from Ryan, Indiana. Lowe, who played on the team two years ago, will be with us this year again. With six letter men and many others who will step into line, we ought to have a fast team this year. There will be plenty of competition and no man has any position clinched. The first practice will be held tonight.

MIYOTOBIOGRAFI

Year VI
I experienced nothing exciting enough to be recorded here except on May 7 the arrival of a sister, Ruth, made a small event in my cares. As this year finishes the period of my babyhood, I declare this chapter duly closed.

Chapter II
The Plastic Age
I surely was stuck on myself the day I toddled into the "baby room" of the Lincoln school. When I graduated into the second grade at Christmas, I thought I knew more than the teachers did and I've been thinking that ever since. I thought there wasn't any better fun than going to school in those days, I wish I thought so now.

One of the things I remember about the three years I was at the "Lincoln" was the time about thirty of us were kept after school for snow-balling against the rules. For our punishment, we had to go out in the yard and snowball each other for half an hour. Of course we all would have preferred a strapping.

Another vivid recollection is the time Purdy's lively barn burned down. It was a big, old, brick-front building, situated on Laurel street where Lively's garage is now. Twins living nearby, not old enough to go to school, had a childish grudge against the owner and therefore they set fire to the tons of hay, stored in the barn, and made good their escape before the fire spread. It was just recess at school and all of us ran the three blocks to see the flames without the least thought of going back to our lessons.

When I finished the third grade, we moved over on the "North Side." I went to the fourth grade at the Whittier school and I thought the students were a great deal different from those at the Lincoln. Some of them even wore neckties everyday. I had the worst teacher I ever saw or heard of when I was in the fifth grade. She must have weighed about three hundred pounds and was all muscle.

I was about eleven years old when I got my first pair of glasses. They were round, gold-rimmed affairs. I was very short-sighted and it was a miracle to me when I could recognize a person a block away with my "storm-windows." These met a terrible fate one fine summer day, when our gang went swimming in the river. After undressing in nature's bathhouse, I placed my "specs" on top of my neat pile of clothes, right where a meandering cow decided to place her dainty pediment.

I now wear a conservative, horn-rimmed pair of glasses. We used to have a lot of fun, killing garter snakes on the river flats below the house. One day forty-six bit the dust as a result of a vigorous campaign. It was on this day that

NO EASTERN TEAM IN POST SEASON PLAY

POLL MADE OF COLLEGES HAVING BEST ATTRACTIONS

EITHER AGREEMENTS OR FACULTY OBJECTIONS ARE IN WAY

DARTMOUTH WAS DESIRED FOR GAME NEW YEAR'S DAY IN CALIFORNIA

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, Nov. 17.—Leading eastern teams probably will not be available for any post season games of any kind, it has been learned from a poll of the colleges that would be the best attractions.

Either agreements or faculty objections are in the way.

Dartmouth being the outstanding team of the season, naturally was the team most desired for the annual New Year's day intercollegiate classic in California, but the Dartmouth Athletic association turned down several institutions and warned off others with the announcement that the team had been disbanded.

It is generally understood that a policy against post season games prevails at Dartmouth instead of any rule against intercollegiate games, which is being urged by several leading eastern colleges.

Last year an effort was made to arrange a post season game in Chicago between Notre Dame, the 1924 champions, and some eastern team. Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame suggested Dartmouth, expressing the opinion that at the end of the season it was the strongest team in the east. The proceeds of the game were to have been devoted to a Christmas fund, but the plans failed with Dartmouth's refusal to accept the invitation.

Princeton, next to Dartmouth, is the best attraction in the east but it is bound by a "Big Three" rule not to engage in intercollegiate games away from home.

Colgate of the other eligibles, with a drawing capacity, might accept an invitation, but a rather light schedule has not made the team conspicuous, and, as far as is known, no invitations have been received.

The Western conference is also opposed to post season games and the California committee probably will have to seek an attraction in the south. It is understood that Alabama, one of the best teams in the south, will be invited to go to the coast and will accept the invitation.

Although there has been some agitation by Harvard against intercollegiate games, it is certain that there will be more of them next season than ever before.

Michigan comes east to play the Navy, probably at Baltimore, and Ohio State is to meet Columbia in New York, Pennsylvania plays Chicago in Philadelphia and goes to Urbana to meet Illinois. The Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game will be continued and Notre Dame will play the annual game against the Army in New York.

Land Disarmament In League of Nations

London, Nov. 17.—(UP)—War offices of nations in the League of Nations are preparing reports on the extent to which they feel prepared to go in land disarmament.

It is estimated that the preparation of the reports will take six months and that probably the disarmament conference can be held next autumn.

NO EASTERN TEAM IN POST SEASON PLAY

POLL MADE OF COLLEGES HAVING BEST ATTRACTIONS

EITHER AGREEMENTS OR FACULTY OBJECTIONS ARE IN WAY

DARTMOUTH WAS DESIRED FOR GAME NEW YEAR'S DAY IN CALIFORNIA

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, Nov. 17.—Leading eastern teams probably will not be available for any post season games of any kind, it has been learned from a poll of the colleges that would be the best attractions.

Either agreements or faculty objections are in the way.

Dartmouth being the outstanding team of the season, naturally was the team most desired for the annual New Year's day intercollegiate classic in California, but the Dartmouth Athletic association turned down several institutions and warned off others with the announcement that the team had been disbanded.

It is generally understood that a policy against post season games prevails at Dartmouth instead of any rule against intercollegiate games, which is being urged by several leading eastern colleges.

Last year an effort was made to arrange a post season game in Chicago between Notre Dame, the 1924 champions, and some eastern team. Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame suggested Dartmouth, expressing the opinion that at the end of the season it was the strongest team in the east. The proceeds of the game were to have been devoted to a Christmas fund, but the plans failed with Dartmouth's refusal to accept the invitation.

Princeton, next to Dartmouth, is the best attraction in the east but it is bound by a "Big Three" rule not to engage in intercollegiate games away from home.

Colgate of the other eligibles, with a drawing capacity, might accept an invitation, but a rather light schedule has not made the team conspicuous, and, as far as is known, no invitations have been received.

The Western conference is also opposed to post season games and the California committee probably will have to seek an attraction in the south. It is understood that Alabama, one of the best teams in the south, will be invited to go to the coast and will accept the invitation.

Although there has been some agitation by Harvard against intercollegiate games, it is certain that there will be more of them next season than ever before.

Michigan comes east to play the Navy, probably at Baltimore, and Ohio State is to meet Columbia in New York. Pennsylvania plays Chicago in Philadelphia and goes to Urbana to meet Illinois. The Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game will be continued and Notre Dame will play the annual game against the Army in New York.

ADDITIONAL FIRE TRUCK ADVOCATED

Chief McGinn Presents Communication to Council at Last Session

$6,500 TRUCK RECOMMENDED

Alderman Martin Anderson Favors Larger Truck of 700 Gallons Capacity

The city council met last evening in the council chambers in the city hall. All members were present with the exception of Alderman Andy Wesley.

The most important business transaction by the council at last night's meeting was consideration of the proposition of the city purchasing a new fire truck. The following communication was read from the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department:

November 14, 1925
The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.
Gentlemen:-

The undersigned committee having been appointed by the various companies of the fire department of the city of Brainerd, realizing the need of additional equipment for the fire department, and having conferred with your body in regard to the same at which time a committee from your body was appointed to discuss with us the nature of such additional equipment, and we having given much study to the need, wish to make the following recommendation.

We recommend the purchase of a fire truck, substantially built and equipped with a motor of at least 70 H. P., 6-cylinder and of standard type, with a rotary pump of not less than 500 gallon capacity, a double chemical with two not less than 40 gallon copper tanks, capable of carrying at least 1,000 feet of hose, together with the standard ladder equipment and incidentals such as small chemicals, axes, pipe hose and the usual incidental equipment, such equipment, and truck, not to cost an amount in excess of $6,500.

In our investigations we have been guided, first, by the personal knowledge on our part of the nature of equipment that would work most successfully, considering the equipment now in use by the fire department. We have also considered the recommendations made by R. L. Daniels, engineer with the General Inspection Bureau, who made a survey of Brainerd's fire protection and to recommend that the city should have two motor rigs carrying hose and motorized city service ladder truck; at least two of the above should carry chemicals; and for protection of schools and high pressure streams in mercantile districts a pumper is recommended of not less than 500 gallons per minute.

In our investigations we find that such equipment as we have recommended can be purchased at an amount not to exceed $6,500 from the Luerne Fire Apparatus Company in their truck known as the Luerne Big Six, 500 gallon, triple combination fire truck. Representatives of the department have seen this truck and know from actual tests how the same compares with other standard makes of like fire equipment. This truck is also sold with a guarantee of one year against defective material. We have considered many of the details of this equipment, which we do not believe you would care to have recited in this communication, but from a careful study of the whole matter, we recommend the purchase of the equipment of either the specific truck mentioned or any other truck which can be purchased with the same equipment and construction, and carrying capacity, and at a price not to exceed the price of this truck which is the sum of $6,500.

Respectfully submitted,
Fire Committee of the Brainerd, Fire Department.
(Signed) H. McGINN, Chairman.
Alderman Martin Anderson then presented the following communications which he read:

Oct. 19, 1925.
Mr. G. W. Chadbourne,
Brainerd, Minn.
Dear Sir:-

When Brainerd recently talking to Mr. Anderson, a member of your city council, he brought up the question of a 700-gallon pumper which he was advocating and I volunteered to take the matter up with the General Inspection Bureau.

Herewith I beg to hand you their letter recommending that a 700-gallon apparatus be used.

Yours very truly,
LOUIS L. LAW,
State Agent.
Oct. 14, 1925.

Mr. Louis L. Law,
306-310 Plymouth Bldg.,
Minneapolis, Minn.
Dear Sir:-

In answer to your letter of the 8th, we would say that the purchase of a pump would be quite desirable for Brainerd, and we would recommend that the 700 gallon pump be purchased. In the future they will probably want to purchase an additional 700 gallon pump. The 700 to 750 gallon pump is the size used in Minneapolis and seems to be about the best all around size for City Departments.

The 500 gallon pump would be a very good piece of apparatus and would be all right if they expect to duplicate it in the near future.

Yours very truly,
General Inspection Bureau.
After some discussion, the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department was granted more time to investigate into the matter and are to report at the next regular meeting of the council.

A communication was then read from the mayor recommending that the council accept J. A. Wilson's resignation as a member of the library board. Fred Lind was appointed to fill Mr. Wilson's unexpired term.

Explains Delay in Street Lighting
A communication was then read from Carl Zapffe, president of the Water & Light Board, a part of which is as follows:

The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Sirs:

The operation of the new street lighting has been considerably delayed due to the inability of the factory to furnish us the proper glassware for their tops, but enough tops have been erected and are in operation to demonstrate the splendid effectiveness of the posts and fixtures on several of our downtown streets.

There has been some discussion of the lack of lights on the north side of Front street between 4th and 5th streets and on the north side of Front street between 6th and 8th streets. The property owners owning most of the private property in those three blocks appeared at our recent meeting and have offered to advance the board $500 until next summer if the board would erect the posts immediately. It will require nine posts and some cable, both of which we can obtain in a short time and the tops we already have on hand as extras due to changes made elsewhere.

Radio Interference
The matter of radio interference and flushing of hydrants was then taken up. The committee reported that all hydrants had been flushed and that the Water & Light Board were trying to find leaks, if any exist.

The people in the vicinity of R and 14th St. N. E. asked for a light at that intersection, but no action was taken on this matter until the committee could confer with the committee on the street lighting system.

The street committee had a complaint about the condition of the sidewalk abutting the property of 519 North 8th street. City Engineer Campbell advised that the same would be fixed up in a short time. The dragging of South 10th street was also discussed, but Mr. Campbell reported that because of frost the same could not be done at this time.

Car Parking Complaint
A complaint was made about cars parking too close to the corners on Oak and 13th street and the committee was authorized to have these curbs painted the same way as downtown curbs.

The appointment of a chief of police was then taken up and the mayor advised he would call a meeting of the police committee this week and have the appointment ready for the next regular meeting of the council.

Guard Rails on South 6th St.
The matter of guard rails along South 6th street was then discussed. It appears that the old guard rails had been taken down and the city hoped to have the state erect new ones when the highway goes through but the highway department had advised it would probably be a year before this would be done. The council then ordered temporary guard rails to be erected.

A complaint had been made that Gregory park had been dark for the past four nights. On motion the Park Board and Water & Light Board were instructed to have lights burning in the park every night.

Underground Crossing And Viaduct
The matters of an underground crossing on Norwood street and also a viaduct on 12th street were taken up. The chair on motion appointed a committee to confer with the Northern Pacific Railway Company. The committee appointed to act is composed of the city engineer and the street committee.

Ask For New City Scale
The street committee was instructed to look up location for and get estimate of construction of a new city scale.

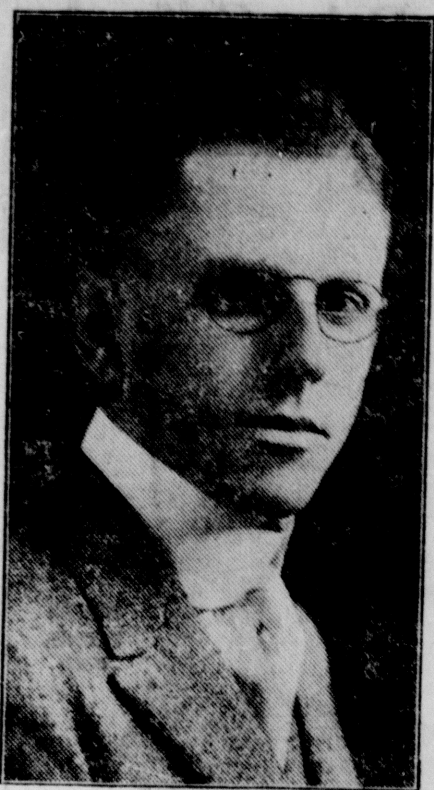

A municipal skating rink was then discussed and finally referred to the Health and Police committee.

Assessment rolls for assessments of the paving of North and South 4th street and curbing and sidewalks and sprinkling assessment were presented and on motion duly passed. The usual payrolls were allowed. The meeting then adjourned.

St. Paul's Guild
St. Paul's Guild of the Episcopal church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church basement. Mrs. R. W. Bush and Mrs. Bert Orne will entertain.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Gust Swanson of 961 South Sixth street celebrated her 66th birthday on Sunday and many of her friends called on her and enjoyed the afternoon in recalling former days. Mrs. Swanson received many beautiful presents. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bethlehem Evangelical Aid
The ladies aid of the Bethlehem Evangelical church, corner Bluff and Main which was to have been held Wednesday, November 18, has been postponed until December 2. Mrs. Ohm and Mrs. Rifenrath will entertain.

Rev. F. Webster Tyler, From New York, holds his audiences spellbound every night at the Full Gospel Assembly, 1/2 A Street N. E., with his startling sermons on the lost and dying world going down to eternal destruction. "The devil has gotten into our universities and schools, into our governments and also our churches," said he. Rev. Tyler was at one time sent out to check up on the moral conditions in our high schools and universities and he says he found the condition in an almost unbelievable state from a moral standpoint. It is not very often Brainerd has an opportunity to hear such a speaker as Rev. Tyler.

A special invitation is given to all ministers in Brainerd to attend these meetings every night this week at 7:45. Tonight he will speak on the subject: "The Holy Spirit's Day on Earth." He will also answer the following three questions: Is God on Earth Today? Is God in Brainerd and if so Where is he? Rev. H. H. Ness gives a hearty invitation to all Brainerd regardless of church affiliation.

ADDITIONAL FIRE TRUCK ADVOCATED

Chief McGinn Presents Communication to Council at Last Session

$6,500 TRUCK RECOMMENDED

Alderman Martin Anderson Favors Larger Truck of 700 Gallons Capacity

The city council met last evening in the council chambers in the city hall. All members were present with the exception of Alderman Andy Wesley.

The most important business transaction by the council at last night's meeting was consideration of the proposition of the city purchasing a new fire truck. The following communication was read from the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department:

November 14, 1925
The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.
Gentlemen:-

The undersigned committee having been appointed by the various companies of the fire department of the city of Brainerd, realizing the need of additional equipment for the fire department, and having conferred with your body in regard to the same at which time a committee from your body was appointed to discuss with us the nature of such additional equipment, and we having given much study to the need, wish to make the following recommendation.

We recommend the purchase of a fire truck, substantially built and equipped with a motor at least 70 H. P., 6-cylinder and of standard type, with a rotary pump of not less than 500 gallon capacity, a double chemical with two not less than 40 gallon copper tanks, capable of carrying at least 1,000 feet of hose, together with the standard ladder equipment and incidentals such as small chemicals, axes, pipe hose and the usual incidental equipment, such equipment, and truck, not to cost an amount in excess of $6,500.

In our investigations we have been guided, first, by the personal knowledge on our part of the nature of equipment that would work most successfully, considering the equipment now in use by the fire department. We have also considered the recommendations made by R. L. Daniels, engineer with the General Inspection Bureau, who made a survey of Brainerd's fire protection and to recommend that the city should have two motor rigs carrying hose and motorized city service ladder truck; at least two of the above should carry chemicals; and for protection of schools and high pressure streams in mercantile districts a pumper is recommended of not less than 500 gallons per minute.

In our investigations we find that such equipment as we have recommended can be purchased at an amount not to exceed $6,500 from the Laverne Fire Apparatus Company in their truck known as the Laverne Big Six, 500 gallon, triple combination fire truck. Representatives of the department have seen this truck and know from actual tests how the same compares with other standard makes of like equipment. This truck is also sold with a guarantee of one year against defective material. We have considered many of the details of this equipment, which we do not believe you would care to have recited in this communication, but from a careful study of the whole matter, we recommend the purchase of the equipment of either the specific truck mentioned or any other truck which can be purchased with the same equipment and construction, and carrying capacity, and at a price not to exceed the price of this truck which is the sum of $6,500.

Respectfully submitted,
Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department.

(Signed) H. McGINN, Chairman.
Alderman Martin Anderson then presented the following communications which he read:

Oct. 19, 1925.
Mr. G. W. Chadbourne,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Sir:-

When in Brainerd recently talking to Mr. Anderson, a member of your city council, he brought up the question of a 700-gallon pumper which he was advocating and I volunteered to take the matter up with the General Inspection Bureau.

Herewith I beg to hand you their letter recommending that a 700-gallon apparatus be used.

Yours very truly,
LOUIS L. LAW,
State Agent,
Oct. 14, 1925.

Mr. Louis L. Law,
206-210 Plymouth Bldg.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Dear Sir:-

In answer to your letter of the 8th, we would say that the purchase of a pump would be quite desirable for Brainerd, and we would recommend that the 700 gallon pump be purchased. In the future they will probably want to purchase an additional 700 gallon pump. The 700 to 750 gallon pump is the size used in Minneapolis and seems to be about the best all around size for City Departments.

The 500 gallon pump would be a very good piece of apparatus and would be all right if they expect to duplicate it in the near future.

Yours very truly,

General Inspection Bureau.

After some discussion the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department was granted more time to investigate into the matter and are to report at the next regular meeting of the council.

A communication was then read from the mayor recommending that the council accept J. A. Wilson's resignation as a member of the library board. Fred Lind was appointed to fill Mr. Wilson's unexpired term.

Explains Delay in Street Lighting
A communication was then read from Carl Zapffe, president of the Water & Light Board, a part of which is as follows:

The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Sirs:

The operation of the new street lighting has been considerably delayed due to the inability of the factory to furnish us the proper glassware for their tops, but enough tops have been erected and are in operation to demonstrate the splendid effectiveness of the posts and fixtures on several of our downtown streets.

There has been some discussion of the lack of lights on the north side of Front street between 4th and 5th streets and on the north side of Front street between 6th and 8th streets. The property owners owning most of the private property in those three blocks appeared at our recent meeting and have offered to advance the board $500 until next summer if the board would erect the posts immediately. It will require nine posts and some cable, both of which we can obtain in a short time and the tops we already have on hand as extras due to changes made elsewhere.

A resolution was passed by the council recommending the expenditure of an amount not to exceed $1,500.

Radio Interference
The matter of radio interference and flushing of hydrants was then taken up. The committee reported that all hydrants had been flushed and that the Water & Light Board were trying to find leaks, if any exist.

The people in the vicinity of F and 13th St. N. E. asked for a light at that intersection, but no action was taken on this matter until the committee could confer with the committee on the street lighting system.

The street committee had a complaint about the condition of the sidewalk abutting the property of 519 North 8th street. City Engineer Campbell advised that the same would be fixed up in a short time. The dragging of South 10th street was also discussed, but Mr. Campbell reported that because of frost the same could not be done at this time.

Car Parking Complaint

A complaint was made about cars parked too close to the corners on Oak and 13th street and the committee was authorized to have these curbs painted the same way as downtown curbs.

The appointment of a chief of police was then taken up and the mayor advised he would call a meeting of the police committee this week and have the appointment ready for the next regular meeting of the council.

Guard Rails on South 6th St.

The matter of guard rails along South 6th street was then discussed. It appears that the old guard rails had been taken down and the city hoped to have the state erect new ones when the highway goes through but the highway department had advised it would probably be a year before this would be done. The council then ordered temporary guard rails to be erected.

A complaint had been made that Gregory park had been dark for the past four nights. On motion the Park Board and Water & Light Board were instructed to have lights burning in the park every night.

Underground Crossing And Viaduct

The matters of an underground crossing on Norwood street and also a viaduct on 12th street were taken up. The chair on motion appointed a committee to confer with the Northern Pacific Railway Company. The committee appointed to act is composed of the city engineer and the street committee.

Ask For New City Seal

The street committee was instructed to look up location for and get estimate of construction of a new city seal.

A municipal skating rink was then discussed and finally referred to the Health and Police committee.

Assessment rolls for assessments of the paving of North and South 4th street and curbing and sidewalks and sprinkling assessment were presented and on motion duly passed. The usual payrolls were allowed. The meeting then adjourned.

St. Paul's Guild

St. Paul's Guild of the Episcopal church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church basement. Mrs. R. W. Bush and Mrs. Bert Orne will entertain.

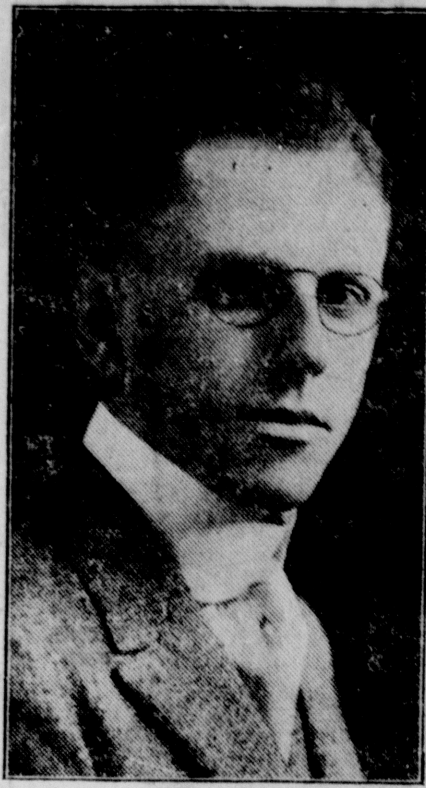

Birthday Party

Mrs. Gust Swanson of 901 South Sixth street celebrated her 66th birthday on Sunday and many of her friends called on her and enjoyed the afternoon in recalling former days.

Mrs. Swanson received many beautiful presents. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bethlehem Evangelical Aid

The ladies aid of the Bethlehem Evangelical church, corner Bluff and Main which was to have been held Wednesday, November 18, has been postponed until December 2. Mrs. Ohm and Mrs. Rifenrath will entertain.

Rev. F. Webster Tyler, From New York, holds his audiences spellbound every night at the Full Gospel Assembly, 14 A street N. E., with his startling sermons on the lost and dying world going down to eternal destruction. "The devil has gotten into our universities and schools, into our governments and also our churches," said he. Rev. Tyler was at one time sent out to check up on the moral conditions in our high schools and universities and he says he found the condition in an almost unbelievable state from a moral standpoint. It is not very often Brainerd has an opportunity to hear such a speaker as Rev. Tyler.

A special invitation is given to all ministers in Brainerd to attend these meetings every night this week at 7:45. Tonight he will speak on the subject: "The Holy Spirit's Day on Earth." He will also answer the following three questions: Is God on Earth Today? Is God in Brainerd and if so Where is he? Rev. H. H. Ness gives a hearty invitation to all Brainerd regardless of church affiliation.

SLOWER PACE IN TODAY'S TRADING

New York, Nov. 17.—A slower pace in today's trading indicated the federal reserve warning against excessive stock speculation was having the desired effect. Another of these admonitions which came after Monday's close in the form of an advance in the rediscount rate at Cleveland was received with greater equanimity than the same steps taken last week in Boston which preceded the last heavy decline.

The market showed it had fairly well discounted the Cleveland development and the market turned dull after some forced liquidation had been absorbed during the first hour.

During the remainder of the market professional elements made desperate attempts to bring about a downward trend. Somehow the market resisted, its resistance being most effective over rumors in the speculative colony that directors of the local federal reserve bank might decide Friday to fall in line with Cleveland and Boston by establishing a 4 per cent bank rate here compared with the 3½ per cent rate now in effect.

The market closed irregular.

Questioning of prospective jurors indicated the defense will base its case on the contention Ferguson was intoxicated at the time of the slaying.

"No."

"Did you notify the president of the United States?"

"No, it would not have gotten past his fourth secretary. I knew I could notify them all through the press and so I made my charges public."

"Why did you make your charges public?"

"Because I thought it would be for the best advantage of the navy."

Mrs. Lansdowne said she first told Colonel Mitchell that an effort had been made to influence her testimony. Later she talked with Reid, Mitchell's lawyer, who requested her to testify.

Leonard questioned Mrs. Lansdowne closely in an effort to break down her testimony and required her to trace every detail of her activity and doings at the time Foley sent the statement to her.

"When did you destroy the statement," she was asked.

"I tore it up after I had written my own statement."

"Why did you tear up the statement you might have made against the navy department?"

"It was the greatest mistake of my life."

Only Girl State Dairy Calf
Club Champion in America

When Irene Davis, of Milton Junction, Wisconsin, came to the National Dairy Show at Indianapolis as the guest of the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, she discovered that she was the only girl state dairy calf club champion there. The Institute also played host to thirteen other state dairy calf club champions from middle western states.

The picture shows Irene and her Holstein calf. She is 15 years old, a member of the Milton Junction high school domestic science club, and an enthusiast in calf club work. When she grows up she hopes to be able to go to the state normal school for training to be a 4H club leader.

SLOWER PACE IN TODAY'S TRADING

New York, Nov. 17.—A slower pace in today's trading indicated the federal reserve warning against excessive stock speculation was having the desired effect. Another of these admonitions which came after Monday's close in the form of an advance in the rediscount rate at Cleveland was received with greater equanimity than the same steps taken last week in Boston which preceded the last heavy decline.

The market showed it had fairly well discounted the Cleveland development and the market turned dull after some forced liquidation had been absorbed during the first hour.

During the remainder of the market professional elements made desperate attempts to bring about a downward trend. Somehow the market resisted, its resistance being most effective over rumors in the speculative colony that directors of the local federal reserve bank might decide Friday to fall in line with Cleveland and Boston by establishing a 4 per cent bank rate here compared with the 3 1/2 per cent rate now in effect.

The market closed irregular.

IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING AGED WIFE

Redfield, S. D., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Arthur Ferguson, 71, was on trial here today charged with murdering his aged wife on Christmas eve, 1922.

Selection of a jury consumed the entire session yesterday and the panel was not expected to be sworn in until late today.

Questioning of prospective jurors indicated the defense will base its case on the contention Ferguson was intoxicated at the time of the slaying.

"Did you notify the secretary of the navy?"

"No."

"Did you notify the president of the United States?"

"No, it would not have gotten past his fourth secretary. I knew I could notify them all through the press and so I made my charges public."

"Why did you make your charges public?"

"Because I thought it would be for the best advantage of the navy," Mrs. Lansdowne said she first told Colonel Mitchell that an effort had been made to influence her testimony. Later she talked with Reid, Mitchell's lawyer, who requested her to testify.

Leonard questioned Mrs. Lansdowne closely in an effort to break down her testimony and required her to trace every detail of her activity and doings at the time Foley sent the statement to her.

"When did you destroy the statement," she was asked.

"I tore it up after I had written my own statement."

"Why did you tear up the statement you might have made against the navy department?"

"It was the greatest mistake of my life."

Only Girl State Dairy Calf
Club Champion in America

When Irene Davis, of Milton Junction, Wisconsin, came to the National Dairy Show at Indianapolis as the guest of the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, she discovered that she was the only girl state dairy calf club champion there. The Institute also played host to thirteen other state dairy calf club champions from middle western states.

The picture shows Irene and her Holstein calf. She is 15 years old, a member of the Milton Junction high school domestic science club, and an enthusiast in calf club work. When she grows up she hopes to be able to go to the state normal school for training to be a calf club leader.

OUTLAWING SUBMARINE AS A WAR WEAPON

LADY ASTOR
STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR ABOLITION

BELIEVES AMERICA WILL BACK
ENGLAND IN BANNING
SUB
ADVOCATES CONFERENCE OF POWERS TO ACT IN THE MATTER

(Copyright, 1925, by United Press)
London, Nov. 17.—Lady Astor, Virginia beauty, member of the British parliament and originator of the latest British movement for banning the submarine, advocated today in an exclusive United Press interview an agreement among nations to "halt this horrid thing."

France, she held, ought to take the initiative, yet there was a great deal to be said for those "who think that England should take the lead" in outlawing the undersea boat as a war weapon. She foresaw that America would back England in such a cause.

Only last Saturday Lady Astor at Plymouth declared she was ready to go among the women of the entire world to rouse them against the undersea weapon. This word from her has started statesmen of England and America thinking and talking of submarine scrapping which failed at the Washington arms conference on objections from France.

Asked today to give her views in greater detail the charming southerner, the first woman to have a seat in the British imperial parliament, said:

"I feel very strongly that we should do something to halt this horrible thing. My own experience among the wives of officers and men in the submarine service is that the submarine should be abolished by agreement. How this is to be done, I do not know. I think Great Britain did all it could at the Washington conference but was stopped by France. It is now for France to make the trial."

France, Lady Astor suggested, has become calmer since the days of the Washington conference, for in the meantime the Locarno pact has given her an air of security.

"On the other hand," continued Lady Astor, "there is a good deal to be said for those who think that England should take the lead and call a fresh conference, whether it be held or not. Even if refusals come we should at least know where we stand. I feel sure that the United States will back us up."

Such a conference, she said, ought to include Russia, for without that nation any agreement reached would not be complete.

"I believe," she said, "that if the conference is actually called, Russia would join us."

FRANCE DOES NOT FAVOR THE PROJECT

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Nov. 17.—France looks with little favor on the British campaign to abolish submarines.

While a marine ministry official indicated today France would be ready to participate in a conference to discuss limitation of the weapon he made it clear that France regarded the submarine as the "soul" of the French naval system, a weapon effective but cheap "for a poor nation."

"The French government," said the marine spokesman, "holds that the question of abolition of the submarine has not yet been brought up between the governments. If there is a desire to restrict submarines, there should be convoked a conference, similar to the Washington disarmament conference, to discuss the problem."

"The submarine is certainly the soul of a poor nation. France is limited in surface craft by the Washington conference and is further limited by her financial situation. France must consider the necessity of protecting her coasts."

"And the submarine is a weapon of war. Before abolishing weapons, one must first definitely abolish war."

As for the practicability of the undersea craft, the spokesman declared that there were not as many submarine accidents as airplane and automobile accidents.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States government is ready to consider with open minds any suggestion from Great Britain or other nations for the abolition of submarines. It was said officially at the White House today.

President Coolidge explained to callers, however, that the present policy of this government favors limitation of submarines on a ratio basis as supported by the United States delegation at the Washington arms conference.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Possession of wine and beer in one's home and even possession of contrivances for the manufacture of wine and beer is not an offense under the Severson law, the Wisconsin supreme court ruled today in dealing with a home brew case originating in Iowa county.

LAD OF 12 WITH EYE FOR BUSINESS

SAID TO HAVE VICTIMIZED VARIOUS PEOPLE WITH SOLICITATION SCHEME

St. Cloud, Minn., Nov. 17.—St. Cloud officials are searching today for a 12-year-old boy with a gift for business.

The lad has victimized numerous persons with an ingenious solicitation scheme. Representing himself as an inmate of the St. Cloud orphanage, he has collected money "for the orphanage fund" at the rate of about three calls a month.

His credentials are a letter signed by the head of the institution. No one has thought to read the letter. The head of the orphanage says it is probably some correspondence he picked up by chance and denies giving anyone authority to collect money.

The personable lad won the sympathy and money of three more persons last night after reports of his operations had been printed in newspapers.

SEARCH FOR THE BANDITS CENTERING
IN ROCHESTER, WIS.

Rochester, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Search for the bandits who have been raiding banks, post offices, railroad stations and business places throughout the state was centered here today.

Racine county authorities began a systematic search here for the possible hiding place of the bandits, when they obtained positive information that at least two of the bandit gang had been making their rendezvous here. These two, it is said, are wanted for murder and looting of a bank at Fort Pierre. Intercepted letters to a girl at Fort Pierre, mailed from this city, indicated that the gang was making this village its rendezvous.

Sheriff Lambert and Racine county authorities came here and conducted an investigation and learned that two men, answering the description of the men, who held up a Fort Pierre bank, shot an automobilist and fled in his car, had posted letters here and then left.

According to Sheriff Lambert, the bandits, who operated in South Dakota used practically the same tactics as were employed in the recent Wisconsin raids.

LOGGING WORK IN WOODS LAGS

GROVER M. CONZET, STATE FORESTER, REPORTS AFTER EXAMINATION

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Although conditions are favorable, logging activities lag in Minnesota's north woods this fall, according to Grover M. Conzet, state forester, recently returned from an inspection trip to Duluth and vicinity.

One of the largest logging seasons in recent years, is anticipated.

"Woods operators are not closing contracts for pulpwood, ties and other small timber and there are few big projects in sight," Conzet said.

The market, rather than the scarcity of woods products is blamed for apathy in the industry. Early rains and solid frozen surfaces made conditions excellent for sledges and early cutting.

Forestry forces are taking advantage of the inactivity to burn the old crop of slashings and diminish fire hazards next spring.

GANGLAND OUT TO PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD LEADER

"SAMOOTS" AMATUNA FUNERAL IN CHICAGO TODAY

LATEST OF CHICAGO BEER BARONS TO DIE DEATH OF VIOLENCE

Chicago, Nov. 17.—With more display than is usually accorded a great national figure, gangland today turned out to pay tribute to Sammy "Samoots" Amatuna, latest of Chicago's beer barons to die a death of violence.

The body, richly garbed, lay in a silvered bronze casket, costing $10,000. More than $30,000 worth of flowers were piled in the room where the body lay in state and overflowed into all the other rooms of the Amatuna home and even into the homes of neighbors.

All last night and early today thousands of men and women from all walks of life filed past the casket for a last look at the man who aspired to leadership of the Italian community and who was shot to death by rival gangsters because he had encroached on their beer preserves.

In the crowd were his own followers, rival gangsters, who called a temporary truce, politicians, who respected his power as a vote getter, lawyers, business men and miserably poor men and women, who lived off the bounty of "Samoots, the benevolent despot."

Vast floral pieces stood out in the veritable wilderness of flowers. One piece was in the form of a pedestal a foot square and eight feet high. There were anchors, flags, eagles, harps and wheels, all done in the most expensive flowers. One huge piece called "Gates Ajar" because of its shape, bore the simple card "from the boys at Taylor and Halstead Streets."

Murphy declared if the attack on the indictment is not sustained he will demur.

8 MEN OF COAST GUARD CUTTER ARE BELIEVED DROWNED

Hallifax, N. S., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Their small boat seized by a squall and overturned, eight men of the United States coast guard cutter Morrill are known to have perished in the harbor here during the night.

The sole survivor, 19 year old Charles Taylor, engineerman of the cutter, fought his way back to shore in the gale and he told today of the tragedy of what started out to be an expedition of mercy.

Still another victim may be listed, Taylor thought, but he was not certain, in his exhausted condition.

His story pictured men clinging desperately to an overturned sail boat, in the cold and dark, plucked off by death one by one as the storms and waves loosened their slender grasp.

BURGLARS KILL
SIX WEEKS OLD
BABY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Burglars early today killed a six weeks old baby by suffocation to prevent possible interference with their work.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen, wealthy residents of the fashionable Belmont hotel, walked into the room given over to John Raymond Allen, Jr., for a good night kiss at 1 a. m. and found the child smothered to death in its blankets. Mrs. Allen fainted and is in a serious condition.

The room was in disorder, all drawers had been ransacked and valuables were missing. Allen reported to police. Police are convinced that burglars smothered the child for fear it might cry and betray their presence.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Evidence of chloroform and burns, found on the face of six weeks old John Raymond Allen, Jr., today opened new avenues of investigation in the death of the child here during the night.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Allen, wealthy residents of a fashionable hotel, told police they found the child smothered in its crib, when they visited the nursery at 1 a. m. today. Allen also said the room had been ransacked. Police proceeded on the theory that burglars fearing interruption, smothered the child.

Police Captain John Naughton, in charge of the investigation, later announced that he had noticed the odor of chloroform in the room, and said there were burns on the child's face. Captain Naughton said he would question Mr. and Mrs. Allen, the infant's nurse and others in the hotel. Mrs. Allen is prostrated and under a physician's care, according to word from her suite.

Allen told police that he was in the front room of the suite virtually all the time, conferring with a business associate. After the conference he went out and drove his car to a garage. On his return he and Mrs. Allen went in for a look at the child, he said.

The door to the room had not been broken and the inference was that burglars entered with a key.

Captain Naughton was closeted with Mr. and Mrs. Allen for several hours today. Later he questioned Caroline Frogen, 60, the child's nurse.

Naughton found some medicated gauze and two small bottles in the baby's room. These he turned over to the city chemists for analysis.

Police said they determined that Mrs. Allen was in a sanatorium about three months before the baby was born for treatment for a nervous breakdown.

STEPHENSON
SOON A "LIFER"
IN PENITENTIARY

WAS FORMERLY "POWER BEHIND THE THRONE" IN INDIANA

FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING MISS MADGE OBERHOLTZER

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—D. C. Stephenson, the man, who, a few short months ago, was the "power behind the throne" in Indiana, within five days will be only a "lifer" in the state prison at Michigan City.

Sheriff Charles Gooding of Hamilton county, where the former Klan leader was convicted of second degree murder, announced today that under the law he must take Stephenson to prison within five days. Once within the gray walls of the prison, Stephenson will be shorn of the last vestige of his power and his identity will be lost. He will be known only by a number.

While his attorneys worked overtime in an effort to perfect an appeal to the supreme court, Stephenson calmly smoked, expresses confidence that a new trial will be granted and he will be freed.

A jury found the ex-dragon guilty of second degree murder, Saturday, for the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, and sentence was passed on him yesterday by Judge William M. Sparks of Rushville, who presided in the case.

MOBILIZE THE KENTUCKY GUARD,
COPING WITH MOB

ALLEGED SLAYER OF SHERIFF FORTIFIES SELF IN A HYDEN BANK

ARMED MOB REPORTED TO BE BESIEGING THE STRUCTURE

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Company H, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, was mobilizing today preparatory to marching on Hyden, county seat of Leslie county, where an armed mob was reported besieging a Hyden bank, where the alleged slayer of Sheriff Joe Morgan has fortified himself.

Morgan was shot and killed by David Steel, a political opponent, during an election brawl, according to advices received here. Steel has concealed himself in the bank and is being protected by a score of armed followers, semi-official reports said.

Early advices said an encounter between Steel's protectors and Morgan's henchmen was imminent. Adjutant General Kehoe, upon being advised of the impending battle, ordered out the troops.

Kehoe was advised of the impending trouble in a telegram from Governor W. J. Fields, who was at Hindman, Knott county, adjacent to Leslie county, on a road inspection tour.

Governor Fields, according to Captain James Wootton, commander of Company H, telegraphed that Judge Leslie Comb of Hyden, rode horseback all night to reach the executive and appeal for aid.

The governor telegraphed that Combs told him the town "was in a state of lawlessness beyond his control," and that armed camps were menacing one another. Wootton said.

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 17.—Armed with machine guns, a company of state militiamen left here today for Hyden, Ky., where David Steel, a politician, accused of killing Sheriff Joe Morgan, has barricaded himself in the Citizens' National bank building and is protected from an irate mob by armed followers.

Steel who, according to reports, shot Morgan during an election brawl, was reported ready to surrender in orderly fashion but refused to leave his stronghold until assured that Morgan's henchmen, who are besieging the bank, would not harm him.

As the troops left Hazard, Morgan's adherents, heavily armed, were reported milling around the bank and a battle is feared. The troops were dispatched at the instance of Governor Fields, who advised General Kehoe that "the situation was out of control" and a battle was imminent.

HEADS NAT'L W. C. T. U.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., was unanimously elected president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union today to succeed Miss Anna Adams Gordon of Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Boole has been vice president of the national organization for several years. Her election today was made unanimous when she received 441 out of 566 votes cast for nomination.

Following election of Mrs. Boole to the presidency, Miss Gordon, the retiring leader, was unanimously elected honorary president of the national organization.

Miss Gordon, the retiring president, had held office for 10 years.

She is relinquishing the national office to devote her time to world prohibition, following her recent election to the international presidency of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Boole, who is president of the New York State Women's Christian Temperance union, was formerly treasurer of the World Women's Christian Temperance union.

In the New York state primaries in 1920, Mrs. Boole ran for the United States senate against the present Republican senator, James W. Wadsworth, and polled the largest vote ever cast for a woman in America.

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Collection of back taxes from dodgers and delinquent tax payers will net the government about $75,000,000 this year, it was learned at the treasury department today.

Two thousand agents of the internal revenue bureau rounded up 350,000 persons during the first 9 months of the year, and from these the treasury was enriched nearly $50,000,000.

Driving on to a whirlwind finish, the investigators expect to add the remainder of the amount set for a goal before January 1. About 50,000 known delinquents remain to be rounded up.

ROAD PLEADS HIS OWN CASE IN COURT

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—J. Allen, knight of the open road, arrested here yesterday on a vagrancy charge, exercised the right of a citizen to plead his case in court today.

Allen refused the judge's offer of a light sentence by waiving trial and insisted upon all his rights under the law.

At the bar of justice today his case was pleaded enthusiastically but ineffectually. He discoursed at length of social evils, trials of the road and touched occasionally upon his contention of innocence.

EXPOSING GANG OF BOOTLEGGERS

LATTER DEALT ONLY WITH MEN AND WOMEN OF WEALTH

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Exposing a gang of bootleggers, who dealt only with men and women of wealth, was threatened today by police in their investigation of the mysterious slaying of Paul Honkavaard, alias Paul Williamson.

Police are looking for a list of names of the persons who purchased liquor from the gang. This list is believed to contain the names of those to whom the liquor, which is said to have been smuggled across the border from Canada, was delivered.

As the body of Honkavaard, who was the son of a wealthy Negaunee, Mich., bus operator, lay in an undertaking parlor here, a large number of persons came to view it.

Police today are looking for a man, who is said to be wanted for other crimes and who, it is said, would be able to give details of the shooting of Honkavaard.

MRS. LANSDOWNE
TAKES STAND IN DIRIGIBLE QUERY

TESTIFIES CONCERNING ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO "FIX" HER TESTIMONY

HER COUNSEL FORCIBLY EJECTED FROM COURT ROOM IN UPROAR

Washington, Nov. 17.—In one of the most turbulent sessions ever seen in Washington, Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne went on the witness stand before the Shenandoah court of inquiry here today to testify concerning an alleged attempt to "fix" her testimony on the part of Captain Paul Foley at a previous session of the board.

Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel, Joseph Davies, Washington attorney, was forcibly ejected from the court room before she took the stand amid a great hubbub and uproar.

Following this sensation Mrs. Lansdowne twice declined to testify at all, but ignoring her refusal, Major Henry Leonard, new judge advocate, put questions to her and received answers which she plausibly gave.

The turmoil started when Mrs. Lansdowne was called to the stand and Davies insisted on making a statement. He was denied the privilege and was put out of the room by a marine orderly, shouting and gesticulating. He was later permitted to return while the court discussed the propriety of letting Mrs. Lansdowne, a witness, and not a defendant, be represented by counsel.

Davies constantly interrupted with demands that "as a matter of common decency and justice, I think I ought to be heard," and was threatened with ejection again.

The court finally ruled that Davies should not appear as Mrs. Lansdowne's counsel.

"You may not prompt the witness as she is testifying," Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president, said. "I do not want to prompt the witness, I want to protect her," Davies said. "I want her to have every ordinary right of every ordinary court outside of Russia."

Mrs. Lansdowne started to read a statement and Leonard interrupted. "I move that the witness be compelled to put away the memorandum in her hand," Leonard said.

"Then I suggest that she decline to testify," Davies shouted.

"You will be removed from the court if you say anything further," Jones shouted back.

"I move that he be removed from the room," Leonard said and Davies was removed.

The court again was in an uproar. "I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne said.

Davies walked over and talked to Leonard. Jones called for an orderly and Davies was ejected from the room.

The court then proceeded to examine Mrs. Lansdowne.

"I respectfully decline to testify," Mrs. Lansdowne persisted.

"This court was convened to investigate the loss of the Shenandoah and I told you all of that before," Leonard then proceeded to examine Mrs. Lansdowne without regard to her refusal to testify. He asked her about a newspaper interview.

"Did you say that Captain Foley attempted to make you give false testimony before this court?" asked Leonard.

"I do not think I used the word false."

"What did you say?" "I think I said 'He tried to get me to twist the facts.'"

She said the interview misquoted her in many instances.

"What did you say about the secretary of the navy?" "I said that I did not accuse the secretary of the navy personally with the murder of my husband."

Leonard asked her if she said that the navy was sending her husband wrongly on political trips.

"I said more than that," she replied. "I said that the navy department was so stupid it had to be proven to them."

When the session resumed Leonard questioned Mrs. Lansdowne about statement of Frank Reid, counsel for Colonel William Mitchell, the Shenandoah court was trying "to whitewash the navy department."

"What do you think about it?" Leonard asked.

"I think the navy department went further than that and stooped so low that it had attempted to sway the widow of someone, who could not answer back," she replied.

"What do you base your opinion on?" "The fact that the judge advocate had attempted to sway my testimony"

VAUDEVILLE AT PARK
Excellent Bill of Ackerman & Harris Circuit Provided
Tonight

Here is the vaudeville bill provided at the New Park tonight and remember a paid admission ticket and a Dispatch coupon clipped from the paper admits two adults. Two shows are given, at 7 and 9:15 p. m.

Among the good things on the bill is the Danseuse International. This act on its first American tour offers distinctive novelties. Esther Ober and Arthur Dumont, South American dancers, are the originators. It is claimed, of the Argentine tango and present a series of novelty dances. This act carries a special South American set of scenery. Lloyd Mann, late with a Broadway production, is another feature in this act.

Billy and Cora Monahan do a twelve minutes act of coon shunting and talking, all comedy, and sing songs. Lots of pep is displayed in regular minstrel style.

Nile Marsh is one of the leading portrayers of feminine types. He is original in that his character studies are all done in travesty. He has a voice of soprano quality and appears beautifully gowned.

Ricardo & Ashforth are supreme in a big aerial novelty which has won big applause on the circuit. Raymond, the xylophonist, puts on a fine act and extracts wonderful musical tones and effects from the instrument.

And then there's a good picture accompanying, making the evening a delightful one.

SLAYER OF NEGRO TAXI DRIVER TO GO TO THE 'CHAIR'

Newark, N. J., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Harrison W. Noel, 20 year old slayer of Raymond Pierce, negro taxi driver, will go to his death in the electric chair unless higher courts intervene.

The Montpelier youth was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night. Sentence will be pronounced next Monday but famed "Jersey Justice" permits nothing but the death chair as the penalty for Noel's crime.

Noel, who also kidnaped and killed six year old Mary Daly of Montclair, did not raise an eye or move a muscle when the verdict was read haltingly.

William W. Wachenfeld, who was assigned by the court as Noel's attorney, when the youth's father failed to furnish counsel, said the verdict would be appealed. The defense pleaded that Noel was a victim of dementia praecox.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT BY THE BELL RINGERS

Nearly 600 People Heard the Program Given at the First Methodist Church

FIVE ARTISTS PLAYED 189 BELLS
Local Talent Contributed Several Numbers to the Evening's Entertainment

An audience of nearly 600 people crowded the First Methodist church to listen to the concert given by the Scandinavian Bell Ringers on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Swedish Bethany church. The audience began arriving at 7 o'clock and 15 minutes before starting nearly every seat was taken.

Hand bell music was new to the majority of the audience and the charm of the music held the listeners as if spell-bound from the opening note of the bells in "Lustspiel" Overture, Op. 73, to the last note of "The Star Spangled Banner." It was not only the music of silvery bells that moved the listeners to thunderous applause, but the symphony of human motion that caught the audience as it watched the five men pick the bells from the table, shake them with a deft twist of the wrist in perfect time and harmony, one with the other, and deposit them again in their proper place at the right time, getting a full note or a short, quick note at will. At times there were ten bells in the air, and then but one or two but always perfect harmony and rhythm.

It is hard to say which number of the program was best, as every number was very well rendered. "The Blacksmith's Shop in the Forest," by Parlow, held the attention of the audience as most of them marked silent time, now fast, now slow, and all eyes were fastened on the graceful movements of the players. "Bjornborgarnes March" and "Swedish Folk Songs" caused thrills to run through the audience, especially to those of Scandinavian descent who had heard them played on other instruments in the countries across the sea many times.

The artists brought out the clear sweet tones of the bells in a most pleasing manner in "Evening Chimes" by Marzian. They responded with two encores, one of which was "Ring Ye Bells of Heaven." This seemed to fairly lift the audience to perfect quiet, as the players deftly drew the sweetest of music from the 189 bells, getting the most difficult and brilliant runs and melodies, now near and again as if in the far distance.

Mention of the concert would not be complete without calling attention to the local talent on the program. "To the Sun" and "I Know," contralto solos by Miss Cora Rickard were very pleasing and well given. Miss Esther Fogelstrom sang "Evening Brings Rest and You," in a pleasing manner and as an encore responded with "Ship Mates O' Mine," in a clear, sweet voice. Miss Lorraine Morrison very ably accompanied both singers. Miss Edna Anderson gave a reading, "Billy Brad and the Forbidden Fruit," in an entertaining way.

Some comments made by prominent people after the concert were: "Wonderful," "Most wonderful concert I ever heard," "Beyond description," "The sweetest music imaginable."

Mr. Quirk did pray, and if he made a bad job of it, as he more than suspected, neither of his earthly hearers noticed the fact, for his words were honest, earnest. When he had finished Tom Linton's arm was around his shoulders; side by side the old men sat for a long time. Their heads were bowed; they kept their eyes upon Rouletta Kirby's face. Doret stood over them, motionless and intense; they could hear him sigh and they could sense his suffering. When the girl's pain caused her to cry out weakly, he knelt and whispered words of comfort to her.

Thus the night wore on. The change came an hour or two before dawn and the three men watched it with their hearts in their throats. Mutely they questioned one another, deriving deep comfort from each confirmatory nod and gesture, but for some time they dared not voice their growing hope. Rouletta's fever was breaking, they felt sure; she breathed more deeply, more easily, and she coughed less. Her discomfort lessened, too, and finally, when the candle-light grew feeble before the signs of coming day, she fell asleep. Later the men rose and stole out of the tent into the cold.

Doret was broken. He was limp, almost lifeless; there were deep lines about his eyes, but, nevertheless, they sparkled.

"She's goin' get well," he said, uncertainly. "I'm goin' teach dat H'l bird to fly again."

The partners nodded. "Sure as shootin'," Jerry declared. "Right-o!" Linton agreed. "Now then—he spoke in an energetic, purposeful tone—"I'm going to put Jerry to bed while I nail that infernal boat together again."

"Not much, you ain't!" Jerry exclaimed. "You know I couldn't sleep a wink without you, Tom. What's more, I'll never try."

Arm in arm the two partners set off down the river-bank. "Poleon smiled after them. When they were out of sight he turned his face up to the brightening sky and said, aloud: "Bon Dieu, I thank you for my sister's life."

Pierce Phillips awoke from a cramped and troubled slumber to find himself lying upon a pile of baggage in the stern of a skiff. For a moment he remained dazed; then he was surprised to hear the monotonous creak of oars and to feel that he was in motion. A fur robe had been thrown over him; it was powdered with snowflakes, but it had kept him warm. He sat up to discover Laure facing him.

"Hello!" said he. "You here?" The girl smiled wearily. "Where did you think I'd be? Have a good sleep?"

He shrugged and nodded, and, turning his eyes shoreward, saw that the forest was flowing slowly past. The boat in which he found himself was stowed full of impedimenta; forward of Laure a man was rowing listlessly, and on the seat beyond him were two female figures bundled to the ears in heavy wraps. They were the "coon-shouting" sisters whose song had drawn Pierce into the Gold Belt Saloon the evening before. In the distance were several other boats.

"You feel tough, I'll bet," Laure's voice was sympathetic.

After a moment of consideration Pierce shook his head. "No," said he. "I feel fine—except that I'm hungry. I could eat a log-chain."

"No headache?"

"None. Why?"

Laure's brown eyes widened in admiration and astonishment. "Jimminy! You're a hound for punishment. You must have oak ribs. Were you weaned on rum?"

"I never took a drink until last night. I'm a rank amateur."

"Really!" The girl studied him with renewed interest. "What set you off?"

Pierce made no answer. His face seemed fixed in a frown. His was a tragic past; he could not bear to think of it, much less could he speak of it. Noting that the oarsman appeared to be weary, Pierce volunteered to relieve him, an offer which was quickly accepted. As he seated himself and prepared to fall to work Laure advised him:

"Better count your money and see if it's all there."

He did as directed. "It's all here," he assured her.

She flashed him a smile, then crept into the place he had vacated and drew up the robe snugly. Pierce wondered why she eyed him with that peculiar intensity. Not until she had fallen asleep did he suspect with a guilty start that the robe was hers and that she had patiently waited for him to finish his sleep while she herself was drooping with fatigue. This suspicion gave him a disagreeable shock; he began to give some thought to the nature of his new surroundings. They were of a sort to warrant consideration; for a long time he rowed mechanically, a frown upon his brow.

In the first place, he was amazed to find how bravely he bore the anguish of a breaking heart, and how little he desired to do away with himself. The world, strangely enough, still remained a pleasant place, and already the fret for new adventure was stirring in him. He was not happy—thoughts of Hilda awoke real pain, and his sense of injury burned him like a brand—nevertheless, he could not make himself feel so utterly hopeless, so blackly despondent as the circumstances plainly warranted. He was, on the whole, agreeably surprised at his powers of resistance and of recuperation, both physical and emotional. For instance, he should by all means experience a wretched reaction from his inebriety; as a matter of fact, he had never felt better in his life; his head was clear, he was ravenously hungry. Then, too, he was not altogether hopeless; it seemed quite probable that he and Hilda would again meet, in which event there was no telling what might happen. Evidently liquor agreed with him; in his case it was not only an anodyne, but also a stimulus, spurring him to optimistic thought and independent action. Yes, whiskey roused a fellow's manhood. It must be so, otherwise he would never have summoned the strength to snap those chains which bound him to the Countess Courteau, or the reckless courage to embark upon an enterprise so foreign to his tastes and to his training as this one.

Pierce Phillips awoke from a cramped and troubled slumber to find himself lying upon a pile of baggage in the stern of a skiff. For a moment he remained dazed; then he was surprised to hear the monotonous creak of oars and to feel that he was in motion. MAKE THE ROADS SAFE

"MAKE the Roads Safe" is the title of an editorial written by the Duluth Herald which is so apt and expressive that it has been used in publicity work by the Minnesota Highway Department.

"In view of the sad list of automobile killings," says the Duluth Herald, "good citizens continue to suggest new rules for the road. In truth there are rules in plenty now, most of them wise, none of which are observed by the lawless. One great fact is that good citizens at the wheel do not need much legal restraint. They drive safely because they respect the rights of others, because they are courteous and because violence and bad manners disgust them. With the bad citizen, the reckless one, it is altogether different. He restrains himself only under compulsion. Laws are for the evil-minded."

"For all that there must be laws, rules under which violators may be punished when caught. Experts at Washington are suggesting a code for drivers. The big basic rule they offer is a good one: 'No vehicle shall be operated at a speed such that it cannot be stopped within the assured clear space ahead.'"

"If all drivers would abide by this rule, accidents would be few. In fact, millions of careful drivers govern themselves by the idea of this rule even now. They keep a clear distance behind the car ahead, knowing that it may suddenly, and often rightfully stop. They do not drive rapidly on the wrong side of curves and they never dart across intersections or railroad tracks without caution."

It's different with the reckless and lawless driver. He doesn't care, and if the Washington suggestion becomes the law, he will violate it when he can. He does not respect the rights of others and gets drunk on the exhilaration of speed and risk. Thus we get back to the idea that laws are for the lawless. As they are and will be lawless, so there must be laws. This leads to the conclusion that severe penalties should be inflicted on those who make the highways dangerous. Public opinion must awaken. Good people must help. It is not enough for a careful driver to obey the law himself. He should, even at personal sacrifice, even to discomfort, see to it that those who break the laws are brought to book.

WHY NOT A TRAINER AT HOME?

We read a lot about Jack Dempsey and his trainer, and the football boys and their coaches and trainers, and we have often wondered why does the home run without training instruction.

Now father can receive instruction in training and when son has completed chopping a pile of wood mountain high, dad can give the boy a bath and then rub him down and turn him out fit as a fiddle. When ma has a heavy washing or scrubbing and her arm muscles pain her, then dad can minister treatment and rub down her arms.

When sister's fingers cramp from too much dishwashing, pa can come to the rescue again and relieve the terrible pain. You know some girls of 16 so delight to do dishwashing that mother never gets a chance at this task any more.

There are a hundred and one ways in which a thorough knowledge of training stuff and proper treatment of over-exerted muscles will restore happiness to any home.

The home can be brought to such a high state of efficiency that when pa wants to rouse the youngest member from his deep slumbers, he need not bawl, "Get up" so that the neighbors will hear him—all he has to say is "7-11-46" and the youthful heir will tear out of bed and come down stairs in six jumps.

We think that a grand opportunity has been lost in home-life. All of this athletic stuff stuff at high schools and universities can be saved and transplanted to the home and made use of.

Even the baby can be trained in its yelling stunts. Given a mother who has been a cheer leader, she of course will know how to produce better and louder noise and baby will profit accordingly.

If athletics is the success it is, why not continue the training stuff through life. It will keep women slender, men will shed their baywindow stomachs, and the doctors will be worried and the undertakers grow sadder as they see a new race which absolutely refuses to get sick or to die.

TEAM WORK NEEDED

THE DISPATCH is preaching the gospel of early shopping so that the Christmas trade will not bunch and center in a few days before the holiday season.

We regret, however, to say that there are some stores in our city who have not bestirred themselves to herald to the world in printer's ink what kind of Christmas goods they have on their shelves.

Early Christmas shopping, if it is to be done wisely, should be based on newspaper advertising setting forth what the merchant has to offer. There are different kinds of gifts. There is the one which is bought outright from the store, all ready made. There is the other gift made of materials bought from the store and which thus carries the individuality or personality of the donor converting the article to its finished state.

Yes, THE DISPATCH will continue to preach early shopping, but early Christmas advertising is also a prime necessity.

THE record for hypothetical questions seems to go to a lawyer at Kansas City, who asked an alienist a question covering 37,500 words. The exasperating thing about some of these questions is that the man on the stand may say, "I don't understand," or "Please repeat the question."

"DEATH RAY" INVENTOR TURNS LIGHT INTO MUSIC, PLAYS HARMONIES ON NEW INVENTION, THE LUMINAPHONE

Harry Grindell-Matthews, English inventor of the "death ray," turned long enough recently from plans of annihilating armies blowing up battleships and sending airplanes crashing from the skies, to demonstrate in New York his new invention, the luminaphone. A keyboard of 37 notes on the luminaphone releases light rays from projections. These rays pass through perforations in revolving disks, and in their interrupted form strike silent plates, setting up vibrations which are amplified as on a radio. The instrument is played like a pipe organ and produces a harmony of tones no less pleasing. Matthews said he had abandoned the "death ray" until he could find capital to develop it.

Rev. Morris L. Eversz of the First Methodist Episcopal church gave a lecture on "Gustavus Adolphus" the sixth king of Sweden to Troop No. 1 and their parents and friends last night.

The lecture was given at the First Methodist church by troop No. 1 under the leadership of their very able Scoutmaster, A. E. Hagel. Boys sold tickets for the lecture in order to reimburse their troop treasury. Scouts met their guests at the door and ushered them into the hall in true scout fashion. Eagle Scout Dale

Sanders, Crow Wing Council's first Eagle Scout, introduced the speaker to the large group assembled.

Rev. Eversz proved himself a most entertaining speaker in presenting this bit of history. His story of this young Swedish king using strategy in his battles was highly colorful and kept everyone interested to the end. The humor used throughout was side-splitting and succeeded in making the speaker a real friend of troop No. 1.

Scouts of Troop No. 1 are all downhearted and rightfully so as they are going to lose their Scoutmaster, A. E. Hagel, the first of the month. Mr. Hagel brought Troop No. 1 up to one of the foremost troops of Crow Wing Council. Rev. Morris L. Eversz has consented to take the place of Scoutmaster of this troop. We are all certain that he will make a big success of it and follow right along in the footsteps of Mr. Hagel.

Pig Stickers Have Troubles Too

Austin—The pig sticking job at the packing plant here made famous by the rise of Larry O'Keefe to fame and fortune, was given a stiff jolt with the arrest of Edward Tracy for theft. O'Keefe recently fell heir to an Irish title while Tracy is in the county jail here. Tracy started work as pig-sticker Thursday and was arrested Sunday charged with stealing a watch from a fellow worker.

A teacher was testing her pupils for current topics. That day it happened to be about Russia.

She asked—"Who is the ruler of Russia?"

Class—"Czar."

Teacher—"What is the Czar's wife called?"

Class—"Czarina."

Teacher—"What are the children of the Czar called?"

Bright Pupil—"Czardines."

Miss Hall (Ancient History class)—Why did Alexander the Great go to India?

Bobby A.—To get some spices and a cup of tea.

Mr. Beresford—"What is an income tax?"

Ant. K.—It's when you sit on some tacks.

Mr. B.—"You don't see the point."

Ant.—"No, you feel it."

Miss Bowers—Were you copying Jimmie's work?

Ray A.—No, I was just looking to see if he had mine right.

Lee Avery—What's worse than raining cats and dogs?

Don Marshall—Hailing street cars.

Milton P.—My girl eats like a canary.

Dick M.—How's that?

Milton—She eats a peck at a time.

Muff—Say, Bill, is that bay-rum in that bottle?

Bill—No, it's muielage.

Muff—No wonder I can't get my hat off.

Said one Gold Dust Twin to the other, Lux against us.

Hugh P.—No, while the eleven was on me.

(In Physiology class) Mr. J.—What effect has alcohol on the body?

Joe C.—It burns the heart.

Bus Fitz—"Gosh, you're dumb."

Why don't you get an encyclopedia?

Jim Tinks—"The pedals hurt my feet."

NORMAL TRAINING
GIRLS ENJOY BANQUET

The Normal girls lost little time after the election of class officers, for they held a sumptuous banquet in the Sewing room last Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock. Miss Waterman, out of the kindness of her heart, allowed us to drop our pursuit of learning earlier, so as to allow "progenitors" of the cats time to prove their culinary art. Perhaps we should not describe the food of the banquet with such a vulgar word as "cats" but it tasted like more either way we expressed it. The menu was as follows:

Cream of Tomato Soup
Meat Loaf Escalloped potatoes
Creamed peas Hot buttered rolls
Dill Pickles
Maple-nut ice cream Wafers
Cocoa

Elsie Linn, our president, presided. As is always said and done, music was dispensed between courses. Conversation grew, languished and retired, showing that we hold to the maxim "Silence is golden," or more probably to our doing full justice to each and every course. One girl ably expressed it as being due to our superior intelligence. We wonder? Just as we were all gathered about the piano, intent upon making the party a "howling success," Mr. Swanson interrupted us by saying that both Miss Oerting and Miss Rickard were going to use the room so we repaired to the kitchen. There we demonstrated the use of the dish towel and dish pan with great adroitness.

ARMISTICE DAY
PROGRAM HELD

Wednesday, November 11, a short patriotic program was given in the high school assembly in recognition of Armistice Day. Although neither a lengthy nor an elaborate one, the program seemed to be very much enjoyed by everyone, especially as it afforded a relief from classes.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Rickard, played a stirring march, which was followed by the recitation of that well known poem, "Flanders Fields," by Helen Marie Stadbauer. Carl Zapfe rendered "America's Answer" in a manner in accordance with the spirit of the day.

A portion of the girls' glee club, showing evidence of Miss Rickard's able coaching, sang the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust. Two patriotic poems, "A Tribute to the Soldiers," recited by Phoebe Jack and "To the Flag," by Lucille Roark, came next on the program, which was brought to a close by two selections played by the orchestra.

PETITIONS

There are petitions and petitions but the sort that circulated around school last Wednesday pertained to the advisability of having a holiday on Armistice Day.

Because the high school students had had a two days holiday when the Teachers went to M. E. A. and because of the Thanksgiving holiday next week, the school board squelched the idea of another lay-off. So, when Miss Tornstrom arrived at school Wednesday afternoon she found many petitions and their originators there awaiting her. The documents were lengthy and although some lacked the standard amount of whereases and therefore, and were written in a style that made one think that the writers could never pass a minimum essentials test in English, the main idea was set forth complete—yes, quite as complete as the Congressional Record. The students seemed to be quite favorably impressed for their signatures covered several sheets of otherwise perfectly good paper. Miss Tornstrom, however, called these laboriously written and very genuine petitions scraps of paper and announced that school was one of the things we were going to have the most of—just like that, or well, almost.

THE MIXED GRADE
ELECTS OFFICERS

The Mixed Grade held its annual election last Monday and although it was held rather late it was thought advisable in order that the students might know each other well enough to choose people capable of handling the offices.

Donald Geist was awarded the distinction of heading the class as President.

Ina Rand came in a close second and was made Vice President. Carolyn Menz will be entrusted with handling the funds as Treasurer and Myrtle Hegstad, Secretary, will keep accounts of all meetings held.

With such capable officers the Mixed Graders feel that their will be a year of prosperity and several social functions have already been planned to take place during the year.

Mr. Johnson in room behind class room with Helen looking for him.

Mr. J.—A'm coming, Helen.

Helen—Oh, I knew you would.

B. H. S. CLOSES FOOTBALL SEASON
WITH A VICTORY OVER AITKINOld Rose and Yellow
are Junior Class Colors

The Juniors were called together or a few moments last Monday night to choose their class colors. After due deliberation a vote was taken and the lucky winners were old rose and yellow. Our president then announced a party on the twenty-fifth of this month and appointed a refreshment committee that knew how to prepare appetizing dishes and a peppy entertainment committee which assures a good time to all those who attend. For the first time we have noticed that the Juniors seem very shy—shy about paying their dues—nobody is going to hurt you, buddy, so let's see some action in that direction.

Were you at the Freshman party? You missed something if you weren't. At 7:30 P. M. the Freshmen gathered at school dressed in hard time costumes. There was the sheriff, a Mexican, farmers and tramps, and for a half hour they entertained themselves, after which time the games started.

The captains were appointed and they chose in turn those wanted on their side, each bleacher had an even number of people, and names were selected, being Notre Dame, Paris, Barrows and last, but not least, Brainerd.

The first game was dodge ball and enough five minute games were played to give all a chance to play twice; points were given to the sides winning, according to the number left in the inside ring.

The next game was a trip to New York; there were two suitcases filled with almost everything imaginable in the line of old fashioned, and funny wearing apparel. Each side appointed its representatives and two sides contested at a time. The contestants had to put on the clothes in their appointed suitcases, go to the other end of the gym, take the clothes off and put them in the suitcases and return to the starting place.

The first one back, of course, won. This kept the whole gym roaring with laughter. Then there was a real race, and a one hundred yards dash. Each one was given a piece of string, one end of which he put in his mouth, and the first one to get all of the string in his mouth without the aid of his hands was the winner.

Darrel McDonald won, and received a prize for the speed. He ought to make a good pie-eater. All then lined up for a grand march and the best costumes were judged. Ruth Kunjitz won the girls' prize and Lawrence Swanson the prize for the boys' costume. Paris received a huge bag of peanuts for the highest score through the games. A line was formed then, and all expected to play last couple out but surprised themselves by a raid on the kitchen and eats!

They were satisfied with a generous plate of cake, sandwiches, and a large cup of delicious cocoa. When this was finished, all too soon they all started to leave, having had a grand evening and hoping for more parties in the near future.

US NORMAL CADETS

The Normal girls at last held their meeting for organization. After much laughter, a great deal of joshing, and counting of votes, we finally decided upon pilots to steer our ship of state in triumph to our final destination. Elsie Linn is the brave and loyal captain, while Irene Young gracefully consented to assist her as first mate with these solicitous words, "Hope you don't get sick, Elsie!"

Because of Myla Trask's well-known power of the extraction of dues, she was chosen as second mate to collect our money. She woefully declared, "Hope I don't lose all my friends." We're with you Myla—go to it. Because of our great esteem for Miss Templeton and her oft expressed desire to procure more knowledge of arithmetic, we joyfully pronounced her purser to guard our untold wealth. Bessie Smith was unanimously elected as our stalwart Sergeant-at-arms. We just know she will not permit anyone to invade our sanctuary. And last but not least, is Miss Waterman, our adviser, counselor, teacher, pupil (when others are not hands), gym teacher, art instructor, 'n everything rolled in one small person. We are all hoping to be half as excellent an instructor as she. "Ray for our side, we are all there!"

Football boy—"Please, may I go and argue with Miss Lohr to see if I can get up?"

He—The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.

She—Then you rule the world awhile.

I'll never forget the football team we had when I was about thirteen years old. We had a man coach who had taught us several good plays and I have recollections of one rainy, cold Saturday morning, when we beat the "Northeast" team 12-6. I got home late for dinner with my clothes torn and muddy and a hole through my lip. This caused my father to put a damper on my football aspirations, so I withdrew from the team.

About this time there was a war between "Northeast" and the "Northside" with the other parts of town siding up. The gangs would meet at the Bill every night and fight it out with bricks, stones, sticks, and anything handy. One night, when a warrior got his cranium dented by a brick, a cop came and convinced us that peace was better than strife so we signed an armistice.

NO EASTERN TEAM IN POST SEASON PLAY

POLL MADE OF COLLEGES HAVING BEST ATTRACTIONS

EITHER AGREEMENTS OR FACULTY OBJECTIONS ARE IN WAY

DARTMOUTH WAS DESIRED FOR GAME NEW YEAR'S DAY IN CALIFORNIA

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, Nov. 17.—Leading eastern teams probably will not be available for any post season games of any kind, it has been learned from a poll of the colleges that would be the best attractions.

Either agreements or faculty objections are in the way.

Dartmouth being the outstanding team of the season, naturally was the team most desired for the annual New Year's day intercollegiate classic in California, but the Dartmouth Athletic association turned down several institutions and warned off others with the announcement that the team had been disbanded.

It is generally understood that a policy against post season games prevails at Dartmouth instead of any rule against intercollegiate games, which is being urged by several leading eastern colleges.

Last year an effort was made to arrange a post season game in Chicago between Notre Dame, the 1924 champions, and some eastern team. Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame suggested Dartmouth, expressing the opinion that at the end of the season it was the strongest team in the east. The proceeds of the game were to have been devoted to a Christmas fund, but the plans failed with Dartmouth's refusal to accept the invitation.

Princeton, next to Dartmouth, is the best attraction in the east but it is bound by a "Big Three" rule not to engage in intercollegiate games away from home.

Colgate of the other eligibles, with a drawing capacity, might accept an invitation, but a rather light schedule has not made the team conspicuous, and, as far as is known, no invitations have been received.

The Western conference is also opposed to post season games and the California committee probably will have to seek an attraction in the south. It is understood that Alabama, one of the best teams in the south, will be invited to go to the coast and will accept the invitation.

Although there has been some agitation by Harvard against intercollegiate games, it is certain that there will be more of them next season than ever before.

Michigan comes east to play the Navy, probably at Baltimore, and Ohio State is to meet Columbia in New York, Pennsylvania plays Chicago in Philadelphia and goes to Urbana to meet Illinois. The Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game will be continued and Notre Dame will play the annual game against the Army in New York.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Anticipating a possible muddy field, Michigan is concentrating on its plunging attack, in which Molenda is the "king cog." Part of the practice was held intentionally in the snow. A dry field is Michigan's hope.

It is estimated that the preparation of the reports will take six months and that probably the disarmament conference can be held next autumn.

News—the most perishable commodity on earth

WHAT a strange, unique commodity is that form of information called "news."

By its very nature it must be "fresh"—it must be "new."

A moment after you have read it, it is almost stale, because its greatest value is just at the instant you are receiving it.

THEREFORE you take special interest in a newspaper which really prints news—information which came racing over the cables and wires with such amazing speed that it is entirely new to you—you could not have heard of it from any other source.

In this newspaper you find many news-dispatches over which is printed the line "BY UNITED PRESS."

That is the symbol or trade mark of the greatest news-gathering organization in the world today.

This newspaper is a member of the UNITED PRESS because "UNITED" stands for accuracy, authority and speed.

Our publication office is hooked through a UNITED PRESS office by a trunk wire system which joins other state "webs" throughout the country, looping to cables and wireless which spread out over the entire world.

Over this vast system of nerve-wires, news comes to your newspaper with the speed of light.

Chief McGinn Presents Communication to Council at Last Session

$6,500 TRUCK RECOMMENDED

Alderman Martin Anderson Favors Larger Truck of 700 Gallons Capacity

The city council met last evening in the council chambers in the city hall. All members were present with the exception of Alderman Andy Wesley.

The most important business transaction by the council at last night's meeting was consideration of the proposition of the city purchasing a new fire truck. The following communication was read from the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department:

November 14, 1925
The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.
Gentlemen:-

The undersigned committee having been appointed by the various companies of the fire department of the city of Brainerd, realizing the need of additional equipment for the fire department, and having conferred with your body in regard to the same at which time a committee from your body was appointed to discuss with us the nature of such additional equipment, and we having given much study to the need, wish to make the following recommendation:

We recommend the purchase of a fire truck, substantially built and equipped with a motor at least 70 H. P. 6-cylinder and 50 standard type, with a rotary pump of not less than 500 gallon capacity, a double chemical with two not less than 40 gallon copper tanks, capable of carrying at least 1,000 feet of hose, together with the standard ladder equipment and incidentals such as small chemicals, axes, pipe hose and the usual incidental equipment, such equipment, and truck, not to cost an amount in excess of $6,500.

In our investigations we have been guided, first, by the personal knowledge on our part of the nature of equipment that would work most successfully, considering the equipment now in use by the fire department. We have also considered the recommendations made by R. L. Daniels, engineer with the General Inspection Bureau, who made a survey of Brainerd's fire protection and to recommend that the city should have two motor rigs carrying hose and motorized city service ladder truck; at least two of the above should carry chemicals; and for protection of schools and high pressure streams in mercantile districts a pumper is recommended of not less than 500 gallons per minute.

In our investigations we find that such equipment as we have recommended can be purchased at an amount not to exceed $6,500 from the Laverne Fire Apparatus Company in their truck known as the Laverne Big Six, 500 gallon triple combination fire truck. Representatives of the department have seen this truck and know from actual tests how the same compares with other standard makes of like fire equipment. This truck is also sold with a guarantee of one year against defective material. We have considered many of the details of this equipment, which we do not believe you would care to have recited in this communication, but from a careful study of the whole matter, we recommend the purchase of the equipment of either the specific truck mentioned or any other truck which can be purchased with the same equipment and construction, and carrying capacity, and at a price not to exceed the price of this truck which is the sum of $6,500.

Respectfully submitted,

Fire Committee of the Brainerd, Fire Department.

(Signed) H. McGINN, Chairman.
Alderman Martin Anderson then presented the following communications which he read:

Oct. 19, 1925.
Mr. G. W. Chadbourne,
Brainerd, Minn.
Dear Sir:-

When in Brainerd recently talking to Mr. Anderson, a member of your city council, he brought up the question of a 700-gallon pumper which he was advocating and I volunteered to take the matter up with the General Inspection Bureau.

Herewith I beg to hand you their letter recommending that a 700-gallon apparatus be used.

Yours very truly,
LOUIS L. LAW,
State Agent.
Oct. 14, 1925.

Mr. Louis L. Law,
306-310 Plymouth Bldg.,
Minneapolis, Minn.
Dear Sir:-

In answer to your letter of the 8th, we would say that the purchase of a pump would be quite desirable for Brainerd, and we would recommend that the 700 gallon pump be purchased. In the future they will probably want to purchase an additional 700 gallon pump. The 700 to 750 gallon pump is the size used in Minneapolis and seems to be about the best all around size for City Departments.

The 500 gallon pump would be a very good piece of apparatus and would be all right if they expect to duplicate it in the near future.

Yours very truly,

General Inspection Bureau.
After some discussion, the Fire Committee of the Brainerd Fire Department was granted more time to investigate into the matter and are to report at the next regular meeting of the council.

A communication was then read from the mayor recommending that the council accept J. A. Wilson's resignation as a member of the library board. Fred Lind was appointed to fill Mr. Wilson's unexpired term.

Explains Delay in Street Lighting
A communication was then read from Carl Zapffe, president of the Water & Light Board, a part of which is as follows:

The Honorable City Council,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Sirs:

The operation of the new street lighting has been considerably delayed due to the inability of the factory to furnish us the proper glassware for their tops, but enough tops have been erected and are in operation to demonstrate the splendid effectiveness of the posts and fixtures on several of our downtown streets.

There has been some discussion of the lack of lights on the north side of Front street between 4th and 5th streets and on the north side of Front street between 6th and 8th streets. The property owners owning most of the private property in those three blocks appeared at our recent meeting and have offered to advance the board $500 until next summer if the board would erect the posts immediately. It will require nine posts and some cable, both of which we can obtain in a short time and the tops we already have on hand as extras due to changes made elsewhere.

A resolution was passed by the council recommending the expenditure of an amount not to exceed $1,500.

Radio Interference
The matter of radio interference and flushing of hydrants was then taken up. The committee reported that all hydrants had been flushed and that the Water & Light Board were trying to find leaks, if any exist.

The people in the vicinity of F and H St. N. E. asked for a light at that intersection, but no action was taken on this matter until the committee could confer with the committee on the street lighting system.

The street committee had a complaint about the condition of the sidewalk abutting the property of 519 North 8th street. City Engineer Campbell advised that the same would be fixed up in a short time. The dragging of South 10th street was also discussed, but Mr. Campbell reported that because of frost the same could not be done at this time.

Car Parking Complaint
A complaint was made about cars parked too close to the corners on Oak and 13th street and the committee was authorized to have these curbs painted the same way as downtown curbs.

The appointment of a chief of police was then taken up and the mayor advised he would call a meeting of the police committee this week and have the appointment ready for the next regular meeting of the council.

Guard Rails on South 6th St.
The matter of guard rails along South 6th street was then discussed. It appears that the old guard rails had been taken down and the city hoped to have the state erect new ones when the highway goes through but the highway department had advised it would probably be a year before this would be done. The council then ordered temporary guard rails to be erected.

A complaint had been made that Gregory park had been dark for the past four nights. On motion the Park Board and Water & Light Board were instructed to have lights burning in the park every night.

Underground Crossing And Viaduct
The matters of an underground crossing on Norwood street and also a viaduct on 12th street were taken up. The chair on motion appointed a committee to confer with the Northern Pacific Railway Company. The committee appointed to act is composed of the city engineer and the street committee.

Ask For New City Scale
The street committee was instructed to look up location for and get estimate of construction of a new city scale.

A municipal skating rink was then discussed and finally referred to the Health and Police committee.

Assessment rolls for assessments of the paving of North and South 4th street and curbing and sidewalks and sprinkling assessment were presented and on motion duly passed. The usual payrolls were allowed. The meeting then adjourned.

St. Paul's Guild
St. Paul's Guild of the Episcopal church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church basement. Mrs. R. W. Bush and Mrs. Bert Orne will entertain.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Gust Swanson of 961 South Sixth street celebrated her 66th birthday on Sunday and many of her friends called on her and enjoyed the afternoon in recalling former days. Mrs. Swanson received many beautiful presents. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bethlehem Evangelical Aid
The ladies aid of the Bethlehem Evangelical church, corner Bluff and Main which was to have been held Wednesday, November 18, has been postponed until December 2. Mrs. Ohm and Mrs. Rifenrath will entertain.

Rev. F. Webster Tyler, From New York, holds his audiences spellbound every night at the Full Gospel Assembly, 1/2 A street N. E., with his startling sermons on the lost and dying world going down to eternal destruction. "The devil has gotten into our universities and schools, into our governments and also our churches," said he. Rev. Tyler was at one time sent out to check up on the moral conditions in our high schools and universities and he says he found the condition in an almost unbelievable state from a moral standpoint. It is not very often Brainerd has an opportunity to hear such a speaker as Rev. Tyler.

A special invitation is given to all ministers in Brainerd to attend these meetings every night this week at 7:45. Tonight he will speak on the subject: "The Holy Spirit's Day on Earth." He will also answer the following three questions: Is God on Earth Today? Is God in Brainerd and if so where is he? Rev. H. H. Ness gives a hearty invitation to all Brainerd regardless of church affiliation.

DEFENDANT IS SENTENCED
Order to Pay Fine of $1,000 And Costs, Latter Amounting to $2,500

In district court at 1:30 o'clock the case of State vs. O. C. Lowe was called. The defendant was allowed to change his plea of not guilty to guilty. County Attorney Ed. Rogers of Cass county prosecuted the case. He was assisted by Attorney Dan DeLury of Walker. The defendant was represented by Attorney F. W. Smith of this city. The defendant was charged with receiving deposits at a time when he knew the bank was insolvent. Mr. Lowe was connected with the Cass County State bank of Cass Lake, had lived there for seven years, is married and has a wife and two children in California.

Attorney M. E. Ryan in behalf of the defendant advised the court of the facts in the case, after which County Attorney Rogers recommended a fine be imposed on defendant.

Instead of a prison sentence. Judge McClenahan then sentenced the defendant to pay a fine in the amount of $1,000 and costs. The cost will amount to in the neighborhood of $2,500. He was given until December 19th to meet the fine, and in default of such payment, he is to be committed to the county jail of Cass county for the period of two years.

SLOWER PACE IN TODAY'S TRADING

New York, Nov. 17.—A slower pace in today's trading indicated the federal reserve warning against excessive stock speculation was having the desired effect. Another of these admonitions which came after Monday's close in the form of an advance in the rediscount rate at Cleveland was received with greater equanimity than the same steps taken last week in Boston which preceded the last heavy decline.

The market showed it had fairly well discounted the Cleveland development and the market turned dull after some forced liquidation had been absorbed during the first hour.

During the remainder of the market professional elements made desperate attempts to bring about a downward trend. Somehow the market resisted, its resistance being most effective over rumors in the speculative colony that directors of the local federal reserve bank might decide Friday to fall in line with Cleveland and Boston by establishing a 4 per cent bank rate here compared with the 3½ per cent rate now in effect.

The market closed irregular.

MURDERING AGED WIFE

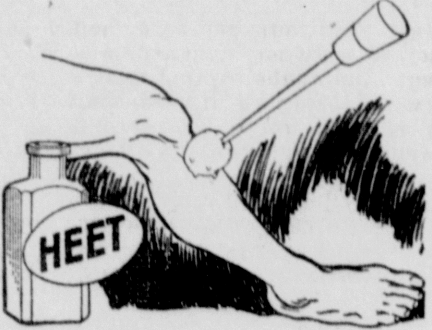

Redfield, S. D., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Arthur Ferguson, 71, was on trial here today charged with murdering his aged wife on Christmas eve, 1922.

Selection of a jury consumed the entire session yesterday and the panel was not expected to be sworn in until late today.

Questioning of prospective jurors indicated the defense will base its case on the contention Ferguson was intoxicated at the time of the slaying.

"Did you notify the secretary of the navy?"

"No."

"Did you notify the president of the United States?"

"No, it would not have gotten past his fourth secretary. I knew I could notify them all through the press and so I made my charges public."

"Why did you make your charges public?"

"Because I thought it would be for the best advantage of the navy."

Mrs. Lansdowne said she first told Colonel Mitchell that an effort had been made to influence her testimony. Later she talked with Reid, Mitchell's lawyer, who requested her to testify.

Leonard questioned Mrs. Lansdowne closely in an effort to break down her testimony and required her to trace every detail of her activity and doings at the time Foley sent the statement to her.

"When did you destroy the statement," she was asked.

"I tore it up after I had written my own statement."

"Why did you tear up the statement you might have made against the navy department?"

"It was the greatest mistake of my life."

Only Girl State Dairy Calf
Club Champion in America

When Irene Davis, of Milton Junction, Wisconsin, came to the National Dairy Show at Indianapolis as the guest of the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, she discovered that she was the only girl state dairy calf club champion there. The Institute also played host to thirteen other state dairy calf club champions from middle western states.

The picture shows Irene and her Holstein calf. She is 15 years old, a member of the Milton Junction high school domestic science club, and an enthusiast in calf club work. When she grows up she hopes to be able to go to the state normal school for training to be a 4H club leader.
